

Vote May Increase School Aid Legislature to Go Over $96.5 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—State aid to education, which now totals $800 million, will be increased beyond the $96.5 million generally anticipated, legislative sources report.

The lawmakers expect that the Diefendorf Committee on public-school financing will add to the $96.5 million total suggested in its staff-committee report and this recommendation will be accepted. The committee, which meets Wednesday to begin drafting its formal and final recommendations, is expected to increase the $500 figure the committee set as the annual cost per pupil on which aid would be based. One source predicted a $525 level.

Otherwise, the committee is expected to adhere to proposals of its staff-committee report, which has been the only significant basis for discussions of revising school-aid formulas this year.

On another front Wednesday, the annual public hearings on the state budget will open in the Assembly chamber of the capitol. Appropriations for operating state departments and for capital construction will be discussed Wednesday and state aid, including education funds, will be discussed Thursday.

Democrats Critical
Gov. Rockefeller has submitted a record, $2.6 billion budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1. Democratic minority leaders of the Legislature issued a statement in which they called upon local officials throughout the state to attend the Thursday budget hearing to protest what they termed a "Rockefeller stall" on per capita state aid.

The Democrats have recommended a 50 per cent increase in this aid, which now totals $100 million a year. Rockefeller and other GOP leaders plan to name a study commission to draft recommendations for overhauling the aid formulas.

Would Test Seat Belts

Seat Belts—The Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety was told by seat-belt manufacturers that its plan for state tests of such belts would duplicate a testing program the industry operates. The committee holds that some form of government check is needed. The committee has introduced bills to authorize the State Health Department to test seat belts.

Industrial Safety—The Senate passed and sent to the Assembly Rockefeller's program bill to authorize state inspectors to prohibit use of machinery, equipment or construction facilities they considered unsafe.

Discrimination—The Legislature received Rockefeller's bill to change the name of the State Commission Against Discrimination to the "State Commission for Human Rights."

Dam Collapse Worsens Idaho's Flood Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southeast Idaho fought its worst floods in 25 years today, as collapse of an irrigation dam and heavy rains inundated new communities and sent hundreds of residents scurrying for high ground.

Swollen streams which already had surged over their banks into more than a dozen villages and towns threatened still others. Low parts of downtown Pocatello were flooded.

1,000 Families Flee

An earth-fill dam broke Monday, impounded water swept down the Teton River and spread over half the town of Sugar City, which has 700 inhabitants.

National Guard troops and volunteers battled to control the rising water, in the face of new dangers caused by rapid melting of mountain snows during a warm spell coupled with the downpours. Seven Idaho counties have been declared disaster areas. More than 1,000 families have fled their homes.

In Southern California, skies cleared after six days of rain, and high waters began to recede. In their wake were tons of mud and debris and scores of wrecked or damaged homes. Some residents in isolated areas were still cut off.

26 Storm Deaths

Twenty-six deaths were attributed to the rain, which totaled more than eight inches in downtown Los Angeles. Among them were three San Diego boys trapped Monday in the cave-in of a rain-softened sandstone cliff.

Cars were muddled in along Hollywood Boulevard in the heart of the movie studio area after an early-morning cloudburst Monday sent muck roaring down a residential street.

Some homes were buried in mud to within a foot of the ceiling. Cars were tossed down Beachwood Drive along with planks, boulders, trees and other debris.

Damage in Millions

The Los Angeles cloudburst apparently was the last gasp of the storm, which caused millions of dollars of damage. The Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy skies, but warned of a possible new storm by midweek.

The northern Nevada town of Battle Mountain was declared a disaster area by Gov. Grant Sawyer after Reese River floodwaters attacked it.

National Guardsmen in Rangely, Colo., fired bazooka rockets to break up an ice jam in the White River. The western Colorado oil town was flooded Saturday when a sudden thaw sent huge ice chunks downstream.

Flood waters from rapidly melting snow threatened north central Wyoming towns along the Big Horn River.

Sheets of ice three feet thick were wedged across the river in Sheep Canyon five miles north of Greybull. Flood waters slowly broke toward the town of 2,286, about 40 miles south of the Montana border.

Hundreds of families have evacuated homes in central and north central Wyoming.

Waters from the Big Horn and Nowood Rivers continue to build up in the town of Manderson. The town of 167 was evacuated Sunday.

Northeast Still Shivers

Skies were generally clear in the nation's eastern half but the northeast continued to shiver in persistent cold. Sub-zero readings included 4 at Burlington, Vt., and 1 at Glen Falls and Lebanon, N.Y.

It was unseasonably warm in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and the Southeast Monday. Oklahoma City had a record Feb. 12 high of 84, topping the previous high of 78 set in 1907. Tulsa's 86 was six degrees above the previous high of 80, also set in 1907.

Changes Urged In Admission of Mental Patients

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Mental Hygiene Commissioner urges sweeping changes in admission procedures to mental institutions to erase the stigma of mental illness.

Dr. Paul H. Hoch said he would submit legislation streamlining present admission regulations, which he said were "cumbersome, humiliating and undignified."

Under the proposed system, court commitments would be abolished, patients would be admitted solely on a medical basis and courts could guard them against infringement of their civil rights, he said.

Hoch outlined the legislative program in a speech Monday at the annual legislative conference of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of New York State.

Solons Want Full Story On Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators have told the State Department they want the full story of U2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers—from his ill-starred flight over the Soviet Union to his walk to freedom.

Spokesmen for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say they expect they'll get the information after Central Intelligence Agency men question the 32-year-old flier.

Still Under Wraps

If they don't, the senators indicated they may have to question Powers themselves.

So far Powers has been kept under wraps since he was exchanged Saturday for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

The only official word on the pilot's whereabouts Monday was a State Department statement that he is seeing his family and will be questioned.

Evidently the only members of his family permitted to see Powers are his wife Barbara who flew here from her mother's home at Milledgeville, Ga., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Norton, Va. Where they are holding their reunion is a secret.

Sister Very Irrate

One of Powers' sisters, Mrs. William E. Hileman, 25, of suburban Glassmanor, Md., said she is "burned up" because authorities "won't let her see her big brother."

"I think all this stuff is ridiculous, absolutely uncalled for," she said. "Nobody will tell me where my big brother is. If I knew, I'd go see him, even if I had to walk."

"I know there is a reason behind all this," she added later. "I just wish they'd tell us what it is."

As senators began moving in to try to pluck some of the curtain of secrecy around Powers' adventures behind the Iron Curtain and his release, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., proposed that the pilot be brought before a public session of the Armed Services Committee to tell his story.

Wants to Be Fair
"In fairness to Mr. Powers, the American people need to hear his story from Mr. Powers himself," Thurmond said.

"If there is no blame, this ought to be brought out," Aides of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said Russell would have no comment now on Thurmond's suggestion.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee would raise the present

Study Runs To 1980 on City Water Improvements Are To Cost $1,500,000

A recently completed engineers' study of Kingston's water supply needs looks as far ahead as the year 1980 and lists a series of improvement projects with a possible total expenditure of close to $1,500,000, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, revealed today.

Compiled by Clinton Bogert Engineers of New York, the report is similar to one made in 1925 with supplements in 1937 and 1952 and from which the city made improvements at a total estimated cost of some $1,850,000, or an average of about $53,000 a year.

Three-Phase Program

Proposed in the report which was submitted to the water board Feb. 8, are a three-phase improvement of the city's distribution system, one of which is listed for a start this year. Its estimated cost is $100,000. The next phase in 1963 would cost $80,000, and the third in 1964 would cost $260,000.

Investigation of well sources of supply is proposed for 1965, at an estimated cost of $25,000. A filter plant project is listed for 1966 at an estimated $130,000, and enlargement of Cooper Lake is proposed for 1967 at a cost of $500,000. After 1967, the report indicated, the schedule could be adjustable.

Pipes Corroding

The report emphasizes that the city's distribution system has been "suffering a continuous deterioration because of internal corrosion and tuberculation of the pipes. In 1960, the National Board of Fire Underwriters surveyed the system and found major deficiencies. As a result, the system has been dropped in rank from its previous Class 2 to a present Class 3 water system, which may result in an increase in fire insurance rates to commercial properties in the city."

The engineers propose gradual improvement based on need, and the first would be the cleaning and lining of the large arterial and lining of the city, which would benefit the entire system. Successive steps of the project, it was noted, would benefit several sections of the system.

Decision on Plant

"The engineers, it was noted, 'after thorough evaluation' of the filter plant, decided that 'funds would be better allocated in making the existing plant properly operable than in the expenditure of 10 times that amount on a new plant at present.'"

In pointing to the need for additional reserve, the engineers recall the city's experience in 1957 "when only 35 days supply was left in the city's main reservoir."

The proposed Cooper Lake project would raise the present

Says JFK Chips Away Freedoms

Lincoln Message One Of Hope in These Days

"We wonder how to preserve our basic concepts as the Kennedy Administration leads us into one of the greatest liquidation sales in history," said the guest speaker at an annual Lincoln Day dinner held here Monday night.

Mrs. Clare B. Williams, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, addressed approximately 250 in the Governor Clinton Hotel at the birthday dinner sponsored by the Ulster County Women's Republican Club.

"Today we honor the man who was our first Republican president," said Mrs. Williams. "A century has passed, but his words come thundering down the years as forceful, vital and true as when he uttered them. He brings us a message of hope, of faith in ourselves, and in the wisdom of the nation's founders."

Lincoln Question's Immortal

At Gettysburg Lincoln voiced a question which has become immortal. In that hushed assemblage he asked "whether a nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure."

"As the Kennedy administration chips away at the foundations of Lincoln's enduring concept of a true Republic, the Great Emancipator's words become profoundly meaningful. We wonder how to preserve our basic concepts as the Kennedy Administration leads us into one of the greatest liquidation sales in history—liquidation of individual freedoms, public confidence, pioneer courage to meet the great issues of the day which Americans traditionally have taken in stride without flinching, fiscal responsibility, and the will to strive as people capable of handling the normal problems of everyday life with a minimum of federal interference . . .

Party Leaders Introduced

Mrs. Raymond LeFever, Third Judicial District director of the New York State Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee and immediate past president of the Ulster County Club, as toastmaster of the dinner introduced GOP office holders of city and county positions also prominent party and GOP Women's Club members.

Messages were read from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, 29th Congressional District; State Senator E. Ogden Bush, 24th District, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Ulster County Republican chairman, all of whom were kept from attending because of congressional and state legislative sessions.

Welcomed by President

Mrs. John Schommer, president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club welcomed the large attendance of men and women. The invocation was by the Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Kingston.

Referring to President Kennedy's recent State of the Union message, Mrs. Williams said it suggested new ways for the White House to grab powers granted by the U. S. Constitution to our elected officials in Congress.

Keeps Eye on Election

"He covered the political waterfront and kept a sharp eye on the approaching November elections," the speaker said. "In noble language, the message diverted attention for almost an hour from such unpleasant Kennedy failures as continuing

Conditions Reported Improving Thorough Weather Study Is Due Later

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—As the preliminary countdown began today for attempt to rocket John H. Glenn Jr. into earth orbit Wednesday, an Air Force weather reconnaissance plane probed storm-tossed Atlantic recovery areas where conditions were reported improving.

Case Not Hopeless

"I don't think the case is hopeless by any means," a weather specialist said. "But it's not as encouraging as we'd like."

He said a thorough weather study may bring a decision late today on whether to put the flight off a day or two.

In hopes the weather would clear, Project Mercury officials today began the preliminary countdown aimed at a 7:30 a. m. launching. The 14-hour count is split over two days, not necessarily consecutive, with the last half picking up shortly after midnight on launch day.

Fog Blankets Cape

As the count started, heavy fog blanketed the Cape Canaveral area, but was expected to burn off by midmorning. A weather report said similar conditions could exist Wednesday, which would delay the firing.

The reconnaissance plane took off from Bermuda to take a close look at seas and skies in a line extending through the three main recovery areas where Glenn's capsule would impact after one, two or three orbits.

The main concern was the zone 500 miles east of Bermuda where Glenn would land if his flight were terminated after a single pass. Waves were reported running five to eight feet high there today, down from 10 feet Monday when 40-mile winds whipped the area.

Waves to Delay Shot

The launching attempt will not be made if waves are higher than five feet or winds more than 20 miles an hour in any of the recovery areas.

Conditions in the other two areas—500 miles south of Bermuda and 800 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral—were reported satisfactory.

The weather expert said a series of disturbances was running through the Atlantic east of Bermuda, with a new frontal wave developing every few hours. The last two waves were less severe than those of Monday, he reported.

May Break in Few Days

He said the weather trough causing the disturbance may break down in a few days, giving hope that the launching can be attempted later this week if not accomplished Wednesday.

Walter C. Williams, operations director for the man-in-space project, said he would base his launch decision on the latest available weather information as the countdown got under way.

The countdown is a detailed

Lincoln Orators Critical

Is Kennedy Scaring Off GOP Candidates?

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republicans engaged in praising the greatness of Abraham Lincoln are coming up with about as much criticism of Republicans as they are leveling at the Democrats.

Margaret Chase Smith of Maine topped the lone GOP woman senator, topped the political soul-searching with a suggestion Monday night in Bangor, Maine, that her party's leading lights are ducking the 1964 presidential nomination because they are afraid they can't beat President Kennedy.

Javits Scolds

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., scolded Republicans in a New York speech for "paying too much attention to the thunder on the right and not enough attention to the thunder in the cities."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said in Seattle, Wash., he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that "extreme left wingers were advocating socialism, while the extreme right wingers were advocating strong-arm government."

Wishes Both Would Go

Saltonstall, who described himself as a moderate, indicated he wishes both wings would go away. He said neither subscribes to the "real aims" of the Republican or Democratic parties.

Mrs. Smith blasted what she called "faintheartedness" among the Republicans. She made it clear she thinks former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York may be "waiting for a sunny day" in 1968 to bid for the presidency.

Nixon and Rockefeller declined comment. But a Rockefeller spokesman pointed out that when the governor was asked Sunday during a television interview whether he thought a Republican could beat Kennedy in 1964 he replied, "I certainly do."

Will Romney Be Sacrificed?

Mrs. Smith suggested that perhaps "the really true role contemplated for George Romney is to be the sacrificial lamb on the Republican altar in 1964."

Romney is taking a leave as head of American Motors to seek the GOP nomination for governor of Michigan. There is speculation that if he is elected, he will go after the party's presidential nomination two years hence.

Commenting in Cincinnati, Ohio on Romney's entry into the race, Goldwater said he hopes that during the campaign Romney "is able to decide more emphatically that he is a Republican" than some of his statements on a previous television program indicated.

As Protest to Liberal Wing

50,000 Letters Will Oppose Gov., Javits

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of conservatives plans to mail 50,000 letters to New York State Republicans asking their help in opposing Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Kiernan O'Doherty, a Manhattan lawyer and spokesman for the organizing committee behind the campaign, said Monday the letters will be mailed out within the next couple of days.

O'Doherty said the move has been in the making for about four months, with its immediate goal being to place a conservative ticket on the ballot in November to oppose Republicans Rockefeller and Javits. A nominating petition to accomplish this would require 12,000 signatures.

"Our hope," said O'Doherty, "is to bring the Republican Party back to its traditional moorings. We think Javits and Rockefeller have steadily moved it to the left, we think there is a great resentment among some Republicans over the welfare state policies of Rockefeller and Javits."

Rockefeller was not immediately available for comment on the move.

Javits said: "For myself, I believe I have served the people of the state of New York in the senate in a way which will best bring to them the blessings of liberty, peace, well-being and personal dignity."

O'Doherty hedged on whether he thought a conservative movement could muster enough strength to defeat Rockefeller and Javits, both identified with the liberal wing of the GOP.

O'Doherty said Godfrey Schmidt, former attorney for a group of Teamsters Union members opposing union president James R. Hoffa, had been approached as a possible candidate to run against Rockefeller.

Newburgh City Manager Joseph Mitchell has been approached as a possible opponent for Javits, but he turned it down.

"I am in sympathy with their (the conservatives') aims," he said, "but not with what it is going to do to the Republican Party."

Trooper Boss Denies Stratton Bias Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton says Gov. Rockefeller has pursued "a policy of discrimination against Negroes in the State Police."

Stratton, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told a meeting of Democrats of the 9th Assembly District of Queens County Monday night: "It is mighty strange that, in a state that ought to be a leader in the fight against discrimination, you somehow never see a Negro state trooper."

Rockefeller, who has made it a policy to officially ignore Stratton's attack against him, had no direct comment. A prompt denial of the charge, however, came from Arthur Cornelius Jr., superintendent of the State Police, who said:

"There is not now, nor has there been during my administration, any discrimination against applicants because of their race, color or creed."

Cornelius added that there are Negroes on the State Police force and that his division "more than welcomes applications from all segments of our population who have the basic qualifications."

He said he did not know how many Negroes the force has in its ranks, because division records do not identify personnel by race.

Stratton, a Schenectady resident, also said in his speech that there is "a pretty small percentage" of Negroes serving as toll-collectors for the State Thruway Authority. He noted that L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, is a member of the authority.

Opponents Swarm Capital Against Shelter Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—They came in 25 buses and swirled through the Capitol, capturing legislators in the halls, in their offices, by the cigar counter.

Some wore beards, others berets, many were in ordinary dress. One man wore a model fallout-shelter on his head, a few carried guitars, and all had a conviction—that the state's fallout shelter program, which provides funds for shelters in schools, was wrong and improperly passed.

But the efforts of the more than 1,000 demonstrators who marched on the Capitol Monday apparently changed no minds. All of the legislators appeared to feel that the issue was closed, especially since the federal government now has embarked on a shelter program.

Some of the demonstrators criticized the political aspects of the state program—that it was rammed through the Legislature in 24 hours last November without proper thought. Others contended that the only defense against nuclear war was peace, not shelters.

If the demonstrators were for peace, police were ready for war. A large contingent of Albany police and state troopers patrolled inside and outside the Capitol. A paddy wagon stood by.

The demonstration was without incidents, however, although hectic for some. Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini in particular.

He Flees While Others Stock Up

MEXICO CITY (AP)—While fellow crewmen stocked up on goods in the airport drug store, a Cuban Airlines pilot slipped into asylum in Mexico Monday.

Capt. Carlos Cordo Lugo, 45, told the other crewmen that he was going to the washroom, then climbed through a window and requested asylum. Police granted his request.

Earlier in the day the first officer of the Cuban ship Fundador, gerardo Arrechea Becquer, defected and requested asylum.

Canada Jobless Up

OTTAWA (AP)—Unemployment in Canada at mid-January was 545,000, an increase of 132,000 from mid-December but 148,000 fewer than in January 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The January jobless total represented 8.5 per cent of the labor force, compared with 10.8 per cent a year earlier.

Seasonal declines in agriculture, forestry, construction and trade accounted for nearly three-quarters of the decline over the month.

Walker Valley Man Injured by Vehicle

A 51-year-old Walker Valley man was injured at 6:30 p. m. Monday when struck by a hit and run car on Route 52 about a quarter of a mile west of Oregon Trail Road, Walker Valley.

Ellenville State Police said Henry Diehl of Walker Valley was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville and treated for a fracture of the left wrist.

Troopers said Diehl reported he was walking east on the east-bound shoulder when an unidentified car going in the same direction struck his left arm. Troopers are seeking the operator of the vehicle.

Ellenville Near

southern Ulster village in a position to proceed with Urban Renewal, Wharton pointed out.

Mayor Eugene Glusker today said he was "extremely grateful for the speed with which our application was acted upon." He said the time usually was much longer and the thoughtful attention which had been given the Ellenville program, was most pleasing to the village and its officials.

Parking, Sewage First

"Our first attention will be directed to parking and sewage projects," Mayor Glusker said. Originally a summer resort, Ellenville has in recent years developed considerable diversified manufacturing.

It was pointed out by Congressman Wharton that this approval by Housing Administrator Weaver does not constitute approval of any specific federal aid.

The workable program is shown by the community's stationery, credit, airline tickets and blank checks, he built up the character of "Sir Douglas" in some of the most fashionable spots in the world.

Codes Adopted

The village has adopted building plumbing and electrical codes and has scheduled a housing code for adoption by the end of this year. All elements of a comprehensive community plan have been adopted and analysis of a neighborhood analysis will be completed early this year.

To qualify for approval of the workable program, the village has taken all necessary steps required and established a Citizens' Advisory Committee last December.

A study is in progress of relocation housing needs of families to be displaced by Urban Renewal, code enforcement and other governmental action.

In line with federal regulations for Urban Renewal approval, a board of 15, composed of local persons, is required to work with the board of trustees, in an effort to formulate Urban Renewal plans in cooperation with the board, as well as serve as a liaison group between the administration and the people.

Nine Names Presented

It was at the first village board meeting in December that nine names were presented to serve as part of the 15 man Urban Renewal Board. They are: Sidney Sinick, Clifford K. Calhoun, Richard Rothman, Ben Miller, Henry Fazzano, Deyo Johnson, William Eckart, Sidney Delaney and the Rev. Leslie Shorter.

At the February meeting the following names were added to the board: Mrs. Ida Comfort, Mrs. Anthony Berrios, Nathaniel Shorter.

Mayor Glusker also announced today that the name of Louis Resnick had been added to the general committee.

Mayor Glusker pointed out that in the appointment of members to the board, minority groups were being given recognition on the Urban Renewal Board. Included in this list are persons representing the various village areas, including representation from the areas which may be considered for improvement.

Two Hurt in Crash, One Car Leaves Scene

Two persons injured in a two-car crash on Route 28 near Stony Hollow Monday night involving an unidentified vehicle, were treated and released at Kingston Hospital, Kingston state police reported today.

Injured identified by state police were Doris Kellerhouse, 36 of Pine Street, West Hurley, bruises and possible fracture of right arm and Mary Jane Kellerhouse, 10, same address, bruised forehead. Both were passengers in a 1949 sedan operated by Francis P. Kellerhouse, 35 of West Hurley.

Troopers David Wachtel and Robert Mackey reported the Kellerhouse vehicle was traveling east on Route 28 near the intersection of Route 28A when an unidentified car entered the highway from a parking lot and struck the 1949 sedan in the right side and continued west on Route 28 without stopping.

Rug City Blaze Claims Boy, 6, 4 Others Saved

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP)—The 6-year-old son of a veterinarian perished today while his parents saved four other children from an early morning fire that swept the first floor of their home.

The body of David Mead, son of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Mead, of Amsterdam, was found behind a sofa in the living room of the two-story, wood and stone house.

Firemen said the boy apparently had lost his way.

Mrs. Mead dropped Sally, 2, from the second floor to Mead, then jumped out. Mead broke his wife's fall. He had led to safety Roger, 8, Mark, 5, and Nancy, 4. A spark from a fireplace on the first floor may have caused the fire, firemen said.

No damage estimate was available.

Arrested on Warrant

William Stapleburg, 45, of Spillway Road, Town of Hurley, was arrested on a warrant Monday charging violation of probation. The warrant was executed by Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw and Officer John Turk. He was released in his own recognizance for City Court hearing tonight.

Bad Show, What 'Sir Douglas' Is Greeted by FBI

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a rather bad show for "Sir Douglas Bedford of London" Monday.

He arrived on the liner Ivernia and the FBI was waiting for him at the dock. The agents escorted him to the federal building, where he was held in $20,000 bail for a hearing Monday on a charge of cashing a phony check for $2,515.72 in Honolulu.

"Sir Douglas" is really Lou Bennett, 38, a California native and travel agency clerk, the FBI said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas Edwards said that since Bennett's departure from New York last August, he had blazed a trail to Honolulu, Denmark, Norway, England and Scotland.

He was arrested in Aberdeen, Scotland, last month on charges of passing a phony check in London. After serving 14 days in London on the charge, he was placed aboard the Ivernia and Scotland Yard notified the FBI to expect his arrival.

Arrested with Bennett in Aberdeen was a U.S. Marine who deserted in Honolulu and accompanied "Sir Douglas" on his travels. The Marine, who was not identified here, was being held in London for U.S. authorities.

Fashionable Tour

The FBI said Bennett was a clerk at the Twentieth Century Tour & Travel Agency in New York. Using the agency's stationery, credit, airline tickets and blank checks, he built up the character of "Sir Douglas" in some of the most fashionable spots in the world.

Probably his biggest achievement, officials said, was the tossing of parts in New York and Long Island for members of a rock 'n' roll band serving aboard the aircraft carrier Independence.

"Sir Douglas" was invited aboard the carrier in Norfolk, Va. Inviting his hosts to the Long Island party in a plush night spot, he arranged for their air passage from Virginia on credit and had limousines waiting for them at the airport to take them to the night spot in Westbury, N. Y., officials said.

Bills for all this began pouring into the agency, authorities said, at which point "Sir Douglas" began his overseas jaunt.

J. W. Clarke Heads Reinsurance Corp.

John W. Clarke, a former resident of Kingston, has been elected president and a director of General Reinsurance Life Corporation, a newly formed and wholly owned subsidiary of General Reinsurance Corporation.

Clarke has been senior vice-president and a director of Gulf Life Insurance Company, Jacksonville, Fla., the subsidiary will conduct a life and accident reinsurance business.

Clarke is the son of the late Harold Clarke, Kingston veterinarian and Mrs. Clarke. He is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1933, and is well known in the insurance field.

Serving on Destroyer

Harold J. Setera, boilerman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Setera of 80 Jervis Street, Kingston, is serving aboard a destroyer, a unit of Task Group 83.3, which has been commended by the U. S. ambassador to the Federal German Republic, following a visit made by the group to the city of Hamburg, West Germany. The ship's crew was commended for their conscientious effort to meet the German public and to serve as ambassadors of goodwill during the visit there. The ship, a Naval Reserve training vessel unit recalled to active duty last October, has been conducting anti-submarine training exercises in Northern European waters.

Touhy's Son Arrested

CHICAGO (AP)—Roger Touhy, 36, son of prohibition era gangster Roger Touhy, has been charged with a $3,100 grocery store robbery Jan. 26 on Chicago's South Side.

Touhy was arrested Monday after the store manager and a stockboy picked his photograph from police files. He was identified under the name of Roger S. Turner but told police he is the slain gangster's son.

Detectives said Touhy, who lives in nearby Yorkville, and another man pulled the stickup. Touhy is on three years federal probation for illegally cashing money orders.

SILLER HAMS
The Finest, Tastiest HAMS Available!

JACK BE NIMBLE
QUICK!

The physical fitness of our youngsters—boys and girls—has declined so sharply that they're nowhere near as nimble, as quick, as active as youngsters of only a generation ago.

We must get our children back in tip-top physical condition! We must make them "doers" instead of sitters and spectators!

The President's Council on Youth Fitness has developed a program that will help make them able-bodied. It calls for at least 15 minutes of vigorous activity every day for every child as part of the physical education period. In schools that have carried out this program, pupils have improved remarkably in strength, endurance and agility. Insist that your child's school put more emphasis on physical education. Act at your next PTA meeting!

USO Holstein Club Lists Activities

The USO Holstein Club, at a recent meeting, made plans for the 1962 activities.

Officers of the association include Ralph Buswell of Stone Ridge, president; Willard Palen, Goshen, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Mino Menendz of Walden, secretary - treasurer. Directors are Nicholas Kolk, Goshen; Blake Winter, Winterton; Arthur Maier, New Hurley; Mrs. Margaret Hillriegal, Callicoon; Russell Buswell, Washingtonville; H. J. Smith, Accord.

Met Last Week

The USO Club held its first meeting of the year on February 8 at Pine Bush with John Thorn as chairman for the event. The club will meet again on March 29, at Gardiner with Dr. Clifford Hoppenstedt as chairman. The spring banquet will be held at New Hurley on April 19 with Arthur Maier, Margaret Hillriegal and Nicholas Kolk planning the meeting.

At the spring banquet a calf will be awarded to a junior member of the USO Club. The junior member must be present at the meeting in order to win the calf. There will also be a number of other prizes awarded at this event. The awards will be made to members of the club.

Other 1962 activities include the annual USO Black and White Show on July 28 at the fairgrounds in Middletown. In charge of this cattle show will be Willard Palen of Goshen. There will be a tour in August with Lloyd Peavey, Warwick, and Franklin Kelder, Stone Ridge, in charge.

Two meetings will be held this fall, one in September in Sullivan County with Margaret Hillriegal in charge and the final meeting of the year will be held in November in Goshen with Kolk, chairman of the meeting.

A new event sponsored by the club is a calf sale to be held in October with Leonard Baird of Chester, in charge of the sale. Consignments to the sale will be made by USO breeders for the purpose of giving young Holstein people a chance to purchase calves.

Tri-County Membership

The club that has its membership from Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Counties, is very much interested in the promotion of the breed in this area and to help individuals in getting started in registered Holstein cattle. The club is made up of registered Holstein breeders in the three counties.

For assistance in knowing about the club, its membership and other matters on registered Holstein cattle, the directors and officers of the club will discuss the activities, what the club does and any other information that interest dairymen.

Besides the local club there is the New York State Holstein Association made up of all clubs in the state with headquarters at Ithaca and also the National Association located at Brattleboro, Vt.

State director of the club is Franklin Kelder of Accord, milk marketing representative is Joseph Brail of Stone Ridge; news reporter, Mrs. Elizabeth Barnhart of Stone Ridge; junior activities, Mrs. Hillriegal.

Bridge Traffic Increases 3.7 Per Cent

A gain of 3.7 per cent in traffic over the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge in 1961 contributed largely to a 1.8 per cent gain on the four spans under the control of the New York State Bridge Authority, a report for the year showed today.

The local span clocked 994,035 vehicles, a gain of 35,360 over the 1960 total.

The four bridges clocked 8,206,500 vehicles to surpass 1960 by 148,719 vehicles. Toll revenue on the spans in 1961, reported at $2,241,116, was $32,820 above that in 1960. Net revenue for the year, however, before bond service was $1,516,977, compared to $1,584,127 in 1960. Interest earned in 1961 was reported at $81,787 compared to $112,039 in 1960. Operating expenses last year were $805,926, compared to $736,208 in 1960.

Mid-Hudson Bridge gained 3.6 per cent in traffic, travel on the Rip Van Winkle dropped .5 per cent and that on the Bear Mountain by 1.5 per cent. The comparative figures for the Mid-

Hudson were 4,039,420 in 1960 and 4,184,217 in 1961. On the Rip Van Winkle they were 1,350,147 and 1,343,850 and on the Bear Mountain they were 1,709,539 and 1,684,338.

A report on the last quarter of 1961 showed a 4.8 per cent gain on all spans. The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge in that period showed a gain of 7.7 per cent.

Gross revenue from all was reported at $2,322,093 in 1961 and $2,320,335 in 1960. Operating expenses were $805,926 in 1961 and $736,208 in 1960.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 13, 1962

ROMNEY'S IMPACT

The projection of American Motors' President George Romney onto the national Republican political scene is a development virtually without parallel in this century.

Comparisons with the Wendell Willkie phenomenon of 1940 are not really exact. Willkie's climb to national attention took place in those critical few months just before his nomination for president at the GOP convention in late June.

Romney's rise is occurring two and a half years before the 1964 nominating convention.

Should he fail to gain the governorship of Michigan, his star would of course fade as swiftly as it has risen.

Moreover, much of his current appeal appears based on his general attractiveness, without regard to his specific views. These are little known today. Since they are unorthodox, this could diminish his appeal.

As an example, several top Republicans with the national party organization privately say they had a strong adverse reaction to Romney's first national television exposure. Their chief complaint: what they regarded as his insistence on downrating the party and elevating himself.

Coming from party loyalists, this is perhaps no great surprise. But it does suggest that many obstacles may stand between Romney and 1964.

Nevertheless, his entry into the political arena can alter the relative positions of the presently leading 1964 GOP prospects — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Richard M. Nixon of California.

The judgment of one hard-bitten GOP professional in Washington is that a Romney success in Michigan would elevate his national candidacy at the expense of both Goldwater and Nixon.

Goldwater's problem today is no different from what it has always been. The big-city, big-state professionals do not believe he can carry their territory in a presidential election.

The professionals never have taken Nixon's disavowal of 1964 interest at face value. But they do regard him as something of a tired image. What position he has he owes to his enduring status as an available middle-roader.

The evident disenchantment of many party leaders with Nixon goes far to explain Romney's leap to attention. Without knowing too much about him, they believe he belongs somewhere in the political center. And many feel he could fill what they see as a serious void in that sector.

Rockefeller is believed tarnished by his marital difficulties, but the seasoned pros are not writing him out. A big re-election win for him in New York would tend to wash away some fears regarding his divorce. His pulling power is still highly respected.

The Romney phenomenon may at this stage be overblown. But it provides a healthy boost of interest in the minority party. Wherever they show themselves, new faces are good for American politics.

PROTECTING CONSUMER

Consumers who have lost deposits made in "lay-away" plans or in various "club" purchase programs when the operators of the plans became insolvent would be given priority in claims for refunds in a bill recommended to the Legislature by Attorney General Lefkowitz.

The bill to amend the debtor and creditor law would extend priority to the consumer when a merchant operating such a plan made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. The bill also would extend protection to consumers who have made deposits on goods and services within a period of three months prior to an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

There have been many instances of losses to persons of small income and little credit when the merchants who operate these

WHO WILL CLEAN THE STREETS?

Every once in a while a letter comes my way which is well-written and well-conceived and that asks a question about our way of life that cannot quite be answered. Such a letter came to me from Miller Clearwater, retired, who lives up in Wappingers Falls. Clearwater used to run a garage and did repairs and was apparently a very useful citizen. He asks:

"I sometimes wonder what we are going to do in the future with so much stress on college degrees; none of the younger generation learning to repair such things as automobiles or blacksmith work such as making a spring and tempering it. . . . Sure education is wonderful in any way you take it. But someone has to do the thousands of other things that it takes to run a nation. And all are not Paul Revere or Benjamin Franklin who could turn their hands to anything."

If the law of supply and demand were permitted to function without interference, what is needed most would come to be. Maybe then fewer would go to college where many discover how to attend without learning too much. As it is, college graduates are not having too easy a time because there are not too many jobs for unskilled workers. Lots of college girls, for instance, try to be what are called secretaries only to discover that spelling is absolutely necessary and that the boss does seek someone who can look something up.

The reason that the mechanic is not sought after is that folks buy things ready made and mechanics charge too much to repair things. It seems cheaper to throw a thing away. Nevertheless, there is always a Mr. Fix-It around who can turn his hand to this or that. The so-called handyman in city apartments is no longer the jack-of-all-trades that he used to be. Usually he can repair this or that rather poorly and when a big job needs to be done, he calls in a skilled worker who charges the union scale. It becomes cheaper to call in the skilled worker.

In recent years, all sorts of do-it-yourself packets have appeared in hardware and drug stores. Many men paint and paper their own walls. But it has to be fun to be attractive, and lots of useful efforts are not fun. Washing dishes, for instance, is never fun and families buy machines and detergents to do that job, while mother smokes a cigarette and reads a magazine on how to improve life.

The point of it all is that hard work has become unattractive in an era when the machines do the work and are easy to get.

I fear that Miller Clearwater wants to set the clock back and make it hard for folks again. The trend is in the other direction. Ultimately what is called automation will do all the work and the laborer will be paid for looking on. In fact, more and more of the hard work of the world is being done by machines while the worker has become a watcher of the machine to make sure that it does not break down. With population increases everywhere, why is it so hard to get all kinds of workers? In fact, one might ask, with so many young people going to college, why is there a shortage of teachers, nurses, secretaries and almost everything else that is needed in this world? Where have they all gone to?

There is no realistic answer to this question except to say that somehow a living can be earned by dodging work. All sorts of fancy tasks have come into the labor field and as soon as they seem to be essential, there is a shortage. For instance, what was done in an office years ago before they had a receptionist to lead the way with a smile? Somehow things got done in those days. I was recently in a very fancy office where it took three young ladies and a man to move me from where I got off the elevator to where the man I wanted to see was waiting for me. I was unimpressed by the luxurious waste of manpower. I could not help thinking that these folks could do something more useful. But then the thought came to me that there will soon be a shortage of them too.

Be Alert to False Claims

Of Sinus Cure Devices

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—How good are household air purifiers for the treatment of sinus troubles with asthma that my doctor thinks may be due to dust?

A—The Food and Drug Administration has just obtained a ruling on two types of device seized in a Washington retail store on charges that they were "misbranded by false and misleading therapeutic claims in their advertising." Each of these devices "contained small air filters with electric fans to circulate the air and ultraviolet lamps capable of producing a small amount of ozone gas."

Experiments conducted by the agency showed that "such devices have no significant effect in ridding the air of contaminants and dust and will afford no relief to sufferers of asthma, hay fever, allergies and sinus conditions."

As a result of these experiments, the court issued a decree in which it ordered destruction of leaflets stating that the device "performs miracles for the dust allergy patient." The manufacturer then "substantially revised the labeling claims."

I call this incident to the attention of all readers to alert them to the importance of reading the labels on foods, medicinals and therapeutic devices they purchase.

Q—I am one of those who has to watch his cholesterol content. I am very fond of bananas. I know they contain oil and I wonder whether this oil has a high cholesterol content. Can you tell me?

A—You may safely eat bananas. I have repeatedly pointed out the cholesterol content of the blood and tissues is dependent more on what the body does with the food we eat than in the chemical composition of the food we put in into our mouths. If this were not so, how do you think we'd get bacon from pigs, cream from cows and egg yolk from chickens?

Q—I have a 2-year-old girl and two older boys. The girl seems normal and bright in most ways. She understands everything that is said to her and makes you understand in motions and noises what she wants. But she has yet to say one word—not even, mom, dad or bye-bye. Should she be taken to a doctor or do you think she will talk in time?

A—Before you take her to a doctor, make sure that her speech is not held back for psychological reasons, such as getting everything she wants without having to ask or being overwhelmed by the chattering of her older brothers.

If you have the courage, withhold her food and toys until she asks for them in spoken words instead of by motions and noises. Then, if necessity doesn't compel her to make known her requirements or desires, you'd better get professional advice.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Kicking Communist Cuba out of the Inter-American Defense Board which handles Western Hemisphere security will pose no new threat to the United States Naval Base at Guantanamo, in the opinion of military observers here.

U.S. OFFICIALS TOOK a calculated risk on this point in pushing their policies to ostracize the Castro government from the Organization of American States at the Punta Del Este, Uruguay, conference of foreign ministers. President Kennedy's action in slapping an embargo on U.S. trade with Cuba was a natural follow-up to this decision.

It is considered noteworthy that in all the resulting ratings of Premier Fidel Castro in Havana, of President Osvaldo Dorticos and Foreign Minister Raul Roa at Punta Del Este and of Ambassador Marcio Garcia at the United Nations General Assembly in New York, there have been no new threats against Guantanamo.

The reason given for this is that if Castro makes an open attack against Guantanamo, it will provide the United States with justification for going into Cuba and cleaning the place up. Castro knows this and won't run the risk of starting a war.

IT IS CONCEDED that the present Cuban government can make continued U.S. occupation of Guantanamo uncomfortable. Fresh water supplies could be cut off. American dependents might have to be evacuated. Cuban laborers could be prevented from reporting for work inside the base. But the earnings of these workers provide almost the only source of U.S. dollar earnings which Cuba has left. They are not expected to be disturbed.

Any idea that Soviet Russia would come to Castro's aid in an open attack on Guantanamo is discounted. In fact, the principal Russian role in any Guantanamo action is the Guantanamo action is expected to be the exercise of restraint on Castro from starting any such foolhardy adventure.

Communist bloc countries put 25 to 30 ships a month into Cuban ports last year. They have delivered army weapons, from small arms to heavy artillery and tanks, jet fighters, some big bombers, radar and transport equipment. Most of these munitions have come from Czechoslovakia. Some patrol craft and submarine chasers have also been towed into Cuban ports from Communist country shipyards.

In equipping the Cuban militia with small arms of Communist manufacture, Castro has used the weapons formerly carried by his army to supply Communist guerrilla forces in Latin America. Halting this arms traffic is now one of the principal objectives of the Inter-American Defense Board.

But as one source sums it up, in spite of all the arms which the Communist countries have furnished Castro—perhaps $100 million worth for which the Castro government has had to pay through the nose—the entire Cuban navy and air force could be wiped out by one United States carrier task force. And the U.S. Navy currently has three carriers in Caribbean waters.

CASTRO'S ARMED MILITIA has been greatly expanded to maintain police state controls over the Cuban people. It might cause more difficulty, particularly if driven into the hills. There might be heavy casualties in operations to mop it up.

But U.S. Army and Marine ground forces could be airlifted into Cuba from southeastern U.S. bases in short order.

The eventual outcome would not be in doubt, for the U.S. is determined not to let Guantanamo go while its treaty rights remain in force.

Castro is expected to continue his propaganda attacks against the United States. One of the standard themes in this attack, still being repeated in the U.N., is that the U.S. is planning a new invasion of Cuba. But assurances are being given that there will be no such invasion unless Castro starts it by an attack on Guantanamo.

By SOPHIE MILLER

The mention of windmills and use of water power several times in this column brought interesting response from a reader who writes in part: "Did you know that the Amish of southern Pennsylvania still use a unique system of windmill, waterwheel and cable for power. They, of course, retain the old ways of life, shunning most modern conveniences such as electricity, and motor driven vehicles—even to do the heavy farm work. They are a branch of the so-called Pennsylvania Dutch and have much the same national origins as settlers of the Hudson Valley. It might be interesting to follow through and see how far the similarity applies . . ."

No doubt there are readers of this column who in some way may be related to the Amish or Pennsylvania Dutch who can tell me more, from perhaps personal experience or what they have been told in their family circle.

I have always admired the Amish for their ability to keep out of trouble in this hectic world of ours. One just never reads about crime in their life. I am interested in their way of life. For one thing it would be interesting to know if they live longer, if their quiet life, and perhaps sensible food and work saves them from heart attack of middle life that one hears about all around us.

I hear a great deal about the Pennsylvania Dutch cooking, and it seems to be all good, not as artificial as ours. I understand they do well financially also. No doubt if they had a colony here they certainly would make use of our water power. Perhaps we could learn much from them for our benefit.

Washington Sees Kennedy Extending His Authority

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The last thing in the world that President Kennedy probably wants to do is to create the image of an autocrat. Unwittingly that's the impression conveyed by some of his messages to Congress calling for a concentration of power in the executive in everything from the fixing of agricultural prices to the raising and lowering of taxes by the White House. Also, without consulting Congress, the President has used the "executive order" authority to go beyond the written law. His subordinates have taken a cue from him and have stretched their activities beyond the principles of the Constitution itself. Here are some examples:

1. The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission speaks approval and threatens all radio and television stations with a possible refusal to renew their licenses if they don't furnish programs according to the taste or judgment of the Administration. It is denied that this is "censorship" but it certainly is a form of coercion.

2. The President's press secretary assembles in a private meeting the secretaries of members of Congress of the Democratic party and urges them to get their constituents to write letters to the TV stations, particularly in the West, which are not carrying Presidential press conferences on the air. When constituents start writing to stations and telling them they have been advised by the offices of their Congressmen or Senators to demand that the President be given more space on television, it begins to look less like an ordinary publicity maneuver and more like a form of coercion, for the TV stations may come to feel their licenses will not be renewed if they don't play ball with the Administration.

Favor of Unions

3. The press has published in recent days many dispatches from Washington telling how "censorship" operates inside the government with respect to public speeches not merely by military personnel but by civilians. The President has a legal right to withhold information as to the identity of the individuals censored but the fact is that when censorship is applied the public feels that a kind of "party line" is being handed out.

4. President Kennedy has come out in favor of organizing Federal employees in labor unions and has issued an executive order requiring formal recognition of such unions. While the document discreetly points out that a Federal employee can refrain from joining if he wishes, and still keep his job—a sort of "right-to-work" doctrine—it also provides an elaborate machinery to encourage union organization. Surprisingly enough, a task force of Administration officials, headed by Secretary of Labor Goldberg, has proposed—and the President has accepted—the recommendation that the "check-off" of union dues be instituted. An individual may refrain, of course, from giving permission to deduct his dues from his pay check, but the main purpose is to make dues collecting easier.

5. At present only 33 per cent of the 2,300,000 Federal employees are unionized. By making it possible to collect dues from a bigger percentage of Federal employees not only do unions get more revenue but an organization is established through which political pressure can be exerted in behalf of the Administration. It could become a powerful political club. These employees, including postal workers are in every community in the country.

"Coercion" on Rights

6. By executive order of the President and without authority from Congress a "company" which bids for any government contract now must, in effect, give assurances to the executive departments that it will hire an as yet undetermined number of persons from every race or creed or color. This policy was adopted by a limited extent under the preceding Administration, but it has been carried even further under the present Administration. An official questionnaire has been sent to 38,000 companies—each of which has contracts with the government in excess of $50,000—asking them to list how many Negroes they employ. Will they next be asked how many of each religion they employ? How many of the 15,500,000 workers involved who have earned their place by merit will be deprived of their jobs to make way for the others?

This is obviously a political move in the "civil rights" controversy, but it is also a form of coercion in which the people's money that should be spent only by the award of government contracts to the lowest bidder, could conceivably be spent among contractors who are subservient to the government on political issues but who charge higher prices.

The whole theory seems to be that "the end justifies the means." It's a doctrine which political bossism has always followed, but in these days when America is boasting abroad about the freedom of the individual in our midst, some of these goings-on seem more suitable for a "police state" than a democracy.

Apple Growers Unite to Study Market Problem

A decision to join with the New York Farm Bureau in the development of an agricultural marketing organization has been made by a committee of western New York apple growers.

Howard Baker of Ransomville, committee chairman, points out that the apple growers had been working with the Farm Bureau to develop a method and procedure through which apple growers would have an opportunity to join with fellow producers in negotiating for price or their product.

Baker reported that at the Horticultural Society meeting held in January, growers had voted 127 to 10 for the committee to proceed with the formation of a bargaining association.

On stressing the need for the organization, Baker asked the question, "Is it possible for us to continue to produce apples with practically no voice in the matter of what this drop is worth in the market place?" He said that apple production is likely to increase in the next few years and growers must be prepared to concentrate their thinking on marketing with the same determination that they have been giving to other products. He indicated that members had recommended a five-point marketing program of:

Promotion, sales organization, bargaining, market orders, research.

Baker pointed out that the current effort is the largest ever attempted by growers to solve their marketing problems. Sign up of growers will begin in the near future.

Members of the committee, in addition to Baker are Clifford Toennissen of Lockport; Roger Silsby of Gasport; William Blackburn of Medina; Neil Elliott of Hamlin; Douglas Sergeant of North Rose; Linwood Poray of Sodus; Mark Brownell of Williamson.

Could Socialize Industries
But the fears of some detractors of the hefty postwar merger trend go much deeper than the immediate loss of jobs or the cutting off of services to some communities. They contend that the merger spree could end with only a few companies in a field. They say this could make it much easier for big government to move in, if at some future date it should want to, and socialize these industries.

All of this is why today's merger proposals are taking on new significance. This could affect you far beyond the results of the big getting bigger or of yesterday's small or medium sized company becoming tomorrow's division of a huge parent corporation.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing much is really final, but it looks now as though some 35 programs currently on TV network schedules will not be around next September.

That represents about a third of TV prime evening time schedules—about pay for the annual course. Cancellations will affect particularly police-action and filmed comedy shows, among them the cartoons which didn't fulfill the promise of "The Flintstones" which kicked off the trend two seasons ago.

Among the older programs expected to go, making room for new, are "Lawman," "Adventures in Paradise," "Surfside 6," "Bachelor Father," "Hennessey," "Twilight Zone," "National Velvet," "Thriller," "The Detectives" and "The Tall Man."

All three networks have a pretty good idea now about what their next season's schedules will look like, although there may be some shifting around. At this early date, it looks as if there are only about seven hours left open to fill and there are at least 200 show ideas and pilot programs competing for those hours.

So, if you think one of your favorite programs is on the skids, now is the time to take pen in hand and tell the network and the sponsor how you feel. This is a time of decision.

Jack Paar plans one final working trip before he leaves his late-evening show for good—to London for three shows which will be seen in mid-March. NEC has lined up Art Linkletter and Joey Bishop to play host on the show—the former for two weeks and the latter for one—in April, first of a string of substitutes to keep the show alive and sponsors happy until Johnny Carson takes over in the fall.

NBC is forced to re-shuffle its schedule of "Hazel" shows and drop in a re-run because Shirley Booth was knocked out of action recently with an abscessed tooth, and Don DeFore, who plays her boss, was bedded with an attack of flu—his second this season.

Recommended tonight: "Seeds of April," NBC, 9-10 (EST)—drama in the Dick Powell Show series, with Gene Barry, Keenan Wynn and Nina Foch; "Mr. Easy," ABC, 10-11—Fred Astaire starring in a comedy.

NERVOUS STOCK MARKETS PREDICTED

Three important items have each advanced 1,000 per cent within 30 years: 1) the Federal debt; (2) national income; and (3) most sound stock prices. Every investor in America has been caught up in this tremendous growth and the 1932-1962 epoch can furnish some perspective to present and future investors.

On Jan. 12, 1962 the gross public Governmental debt was almost $296 billions. Thirty years ago it was less than 10 per cent of this amount. Deficit financing and the monetization of this debt have spearheaded America's inflation.

And deficit financing looms ahead. The Federal budget for fiscal 1962-1963 calls for $92 1/2 billions and the Administration hopes for a balanced budget. Senator Byrd of Virginia—a very powerful man in Congress—does not think income will balance out. He believes the budget, despite high taxation, will be considerably out of balance.

In any event, it is probable that sometime during 1962 Congress will vote to lift the ceiling on the Federal debt. It is interesting to speculate how big a debt can the United States Government handle. Many authorities thought it was too high at $100 billions and then at $200 billions. It will soon pass $300 billions!

In 1932, national income was $40 billions. Today it is around 10 times higher. Inflation, population growth and steadily improving living standards will make national income higher and higher with each passing decade.

It had better grow rapidly if Uncle Sam is to collect enough taxes to pay his bills. Rising national income is one of the great safeguards in our democracy.

And how about stock prices in the years ahead? Anybody who bought such stocks as General Motors, General Electric, DuPont, Guaranty Trust of New York, Standard Oil of New Jersey—to mention only five—in 1932 and has held them into 1962 has tremendous profits today.

The economic forces that existed in the America of 1932 still prevail. But I do not think the phenomenal increases in Federal debt, national income and common stock prices characteristic of the 1932-62 period will recur during 1962-1992.

What I am sure of is this: In the decades from 1962 to 1992, investors will fare better in sound common stocks than in bonds and fixed dollar values. That has been eminently true during the period from 1932 to 1962. Bonds should be short-term investments.

The national economy is top-heavy with inflation. It will remain so. The purchasing power of the dollar over a long period will not improve.

How can the Federal Government maintain a debt of $300 billions and annual budget of $92 1/2 billions without inflationary powers that are steadily growing?

The stock market, highest in history, will be very vulnerable to psychological stimuli. That is why today every investor should set up an individualistic program for himself. If he doesn't, as the gigantic forces loose in America inexorably operate—during the coming years—he will be swept from his feet periodically, selling when he should buy and vice versa.

Nervous and unruly stock markets lie ahead. To Deans, Schools of Business: Today you should be training brilliant students who can serve as professional money managers—Doctors of Finance.

Grand Jury Firetrap

Feb. 9, 1962

To the Editor:

Having read the article in your paper Wednesday, Feb. 7, pertaining to the grand jury in question, as one individual, I am 100 per cent in accordance.

Recently I served on the Grand Jury and being my initial attendance, I do not hesitate to say that I was shocked to find such a deplorable situation in one of our public buildings. My first impression was "What a firetrap this is!" and secretly I began to look for a way out just in case of emergency. To my surprise there was but one window and a sliding door which did not open easily.

If fire broke out under the stairs there would be thirty or more people trapped in that "attic" room and their only chance of escape would be to jump from the third story window. God forbid that a tragedy should happen.

Let us hope that the county or the city or both will do something about it.

Respectfully yours,

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Mergers are taking on a new look.

Corporate marriages command bigger headlines. Some seem more urgent—like shotgun weddings—set up housekeeping together or die. To many these mergers are more frightening—to labor, to various communities, to government agencies the proposals appear to threaten loss of jobs, of services, of plant payrolls, of free competition.

Competition Increases

The new look in mergers comes after a long postwar wave of marriages—the third such in the nation's history. The big interest has been on combination proposals in the railroad, airline and banking industries. But the urgency is being felt in many other lines, such as electronics, chemicals, retail and wholesale firms.

New pressure for companies to get together piles up because competition grows more deadly at home and abroad and because profit margins shrink under mounting operation costs. Small companies today often need more credit than they can get separately if they're to buy the costly machines and hire the expensive technicians they need to compete with the big boys.

Fear Payroll Slump

Communities are growing more anxious. Some fear that the manufacturing mergers mean that the more efficient surviving company will be closing unneeded or obsolete plants, cutting off the community's biggest payroll, increasing its relief rolls.

And government's role looks different, although many persons aren't sure what the new role is. One federal agency may seem to favor mergers as lifesavers for a faltering industry. Another agency may frown on the same corporate marriage because it might lessen competition.

Some Mergers Barred

The antitrust laws bar mergers that might lead to monopoly—with the consumer the fall guy. But some now charge that government of late shows a dislike of bigness itself. Critics contend that everything about our economy is bigger today—so why not bigger business firms?

Also the government stresses the need for economic growth. Many proponents of mergers hold that this is one sure road to corporate growth. They contend that the goal of greater general economie growth can be obtained more easily by big and expanding corporations than by a multitude of small separate ones.

Could Socialize Industries

But the fears of some detractors of the hefty postwar merger trend go much deeper than the immediate loss of jobs or the cutting off of services to some communities. They contend that the merger spree could end with only a few companies in a field. They say this could make it much easier for big government to move in, if at some future date it should want to, and socialize these industries.

VIRGINIA G. S. BURNHAM

Local Heart Group To Hear Talk by Leader in Health

A well-known Connecticut business woman, whose many activities in the field of health include serving as consultant to the Surgeon General of the United States on Health Research Facilities, will speak in Kingston on Saturday, Feb. 24, at the annual luncheon of the Ulster County Heart Chapter.

Virginia G. S. Burnham, of Greenwich, Conn., is president of the Connecticut Manufacturing Co., Inc., makers of screw machine products, machine screws and rivets; and of NuTip Corporation, both of Waterbury, Conn.

In addition to being consultant to the Surgeon General, she is a past member of the National Advisory Heart Council of the National Institutes of Health, director of Connecticut Heart Association and Gaylord Hospital, past vice president and director of the American Heart Association.

The luncheon will be held at 12 noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Reservations should be made with the Heart Chapter, 124 Green Street.

The meeting is open to the public.

Students Raise $3,700 to Help Scalded Child

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP)—It took 9,000 pounds of assorted chocolates, but the medical bills for Karen Dodge are paid.

Karen, 2, was scalded two days before Christmas when she pulled a coffee pot off the kitchen stove.

Her father, Herbert Dodge, a teacher at Brownell Junior High School in Grosse Pointe, had let his hospitalization insurance lapse.

Karen needed blood transfusions, round-the-clock nursing and skin grafts. Students and teachers at Brownell went from door to door selling chocolates—9,000 boxes.

The profits came to $3,700. Student committees went to doctors, the hospitals, the laboratories Monday paying the bills.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Savings-and-loans and stock issues advanced in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 261.40 with industrials off .30, rails up .20 and utilities up .20. The average was depressed by a few of its component stocks selling ex dividend.

Changes of most key stocks were unchanged and quite a few showed minus signs. A slightly higher trend was shown by steels, motors, rails, utilities, electronics and aircrafts.

Arthur Bergh Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arthur Bergh, 81, composer, died Sunday after a heart attack aboard the SS President Cleveland en route to Honolulu.

Bergh, who wrote more than 400 musical compositions, was first violinist for the New York Symphony Orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera House from 1903 to 1908.

Stagg in Nursing Home

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, football's Grand Old Man, was in a nursing home today after being discharged from Dameron Hospital, where he was treated for a knee ailment.

Stagg, 99, who coached football for 70 years, was hospitalized Feb. 3. Doctors said Monday he was in good condition.

Stagg's 100th birthday will be Aug. 16.

AT PRESS CONFERENCE—Mrs. Clare B. Williams (center), Lincoln Day guest speaker, chats with two members of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, Mrs. John Schommer, president (left) and Mrs. Raymond LeFever, immediate past president, who is director of the Third Judicial District, New York State Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, and vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, Mrs. Williams, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, met the press and radio at a conference Monday afternoon at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel. (Freeman photo).

Lincoln Message

ued unemployment and a worsening foreign situation. No mention was made of a matter of deep concern to all Americans—Cuba.

"President Kennedy has urged the creation of a new Department of Urban Affairs, designed to take over supervision of our cities. At a press conference he played politics by announcing his choice for that Cabinet position—as yet unestablished—to be Mr. Robert Weaver, the distinguished Negro Housing Administrator.

No Assurance of Solution

"Republicans long ago went on record opposing an Urban Affairs Department, because it would expand the federal bureaucracy with no assurance that it would solve urban problems.

And long ago, when Mr. Weaver was up for confirmation to his present post in the Administration, he had solid Republican support, but was opposed by many Democrats.

"The President tried to hide the lack of merit of his urban proposal by injecting the race issue. He failed to mention the opposition within his own party to the proposal and to Mr. Weaver, but pointedly and without basis—implied that Republicans opposed a new Department of Urban Affairs solely because of Mr. Weaver's race.

"Within a few hours the top Democratic political boss was ballyhooing the same dishonest idea as the official party line.

"This effort by Democrats to camouflage the issue—hiding behind Mr. Weaver—is an insult to all Negroes who are so justifiably proud of their accomplishments.

"This nation is less than two hundred years old. We are young as nations go. We are vigorous and well-endowed. Let us never permit the roots of our spiritual and material power to be eaten away by those who would repudiate our founding principles, for which Lincoln fought.

"I look upon 1962 as a year of great opportunity for the American people. So let us here highly resolve that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of Republican freedom—and that 'government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'"

Solons Want

Committee seemed to be generally taking over the Powers case. Its acting chairman, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., told a reporter he thinks it will not be necessary to interrogate Powers personally, "but this is not to be taken as absolutely final."

Sparkman's action actually reopens hearings that began after Powers' high-flying plane crashed deep in the Soviet Union in May 1960 and the subsequent collapse of the summit conference in Paris.

The earlier inquiry left unanswered whether Powers' plane was shot down by a Soviet rocket, as Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed at the time, or crashed because of mechanical failure. Members still want to know how the Russians recovered the plane almost intact.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Two F86 Sabrejets of the Chinese Nationalist air force crashed in the mountains of central Formosa Monday. One pilot was killed but the other bailed out safely.

'Bare' Skeleton Uncovered in Area Mansion

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—Renovators cleaning the ceiling of the "gold room" in the mansion of old-time railroad tycoon Frederick W. Vanderbilt stumbled across a "family skeleton," half a century old.

It is a 20-by-30-foot mural showing a group of gay, bare-breasted women in diaphanous Grecian skirts gathered about an elderly man who has his head in his hands.

Caretakers there since shortly after the mansion was built in 1888 recall that when Vanderbilt had the mural executed, his wife objected.

The railroad tycoon, son of railroad empire builder Cornelius Vanderbilt, gave in to Mrs. Vanderbilt's objections and had the mural painted over.

In 1940, Margaret Louise Van Alen, a Vanderbilt niece, turned the big marble mansion over to the federal government, which made it a national historical site. More than a million tourists have visited the ornate mansion.

Now the U.S. Interior Department has the problem of deciding whether to cover the mural again.

Scouts Are Asked To Enlist Relief Youth in Program

NEW YORK (AP)—Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff called on the Boy Scout movement today to seek out the children of families on relief and get them into scouting.

He spoke at the annual Boy Scout Construction Industry "lunch-o-ree."

"We have encouraged the states to give these children and their mothers the wherewithal to buy scout uniforms or to pay carfare to scout meetings or to the special fees needed to enjoy the fun of camping and trips," Ribicoff said.

"We have done this because we know that boys and girls need to go camping—need to fish and play and learn with others. Now you must reach out into the slums and deprived areas of this and other cities and find the children who need you. This is your job."

"Find these boys and girls. Search them out eagerly. Help us remove their spirits, help us open the doors of opportunity. Rid them of at least part of the terrible deprivations of the slums. See that they have the chance to participate—to take part—in society."

Coburn to Head Stockpile Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard C. Coburn, a St. Louis attorney, has been named special counsel for the Senate subcommittee investigating the national stockpile.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., subcommittee chairman, announced the appointment late Monday. He described Coburn as a lifelong Republican. He said Coburn is a former president of the Missouri Association of Young Republicans who later became chairman of the Missouri Republican finance committee.

Kerhonkson Fire Routs 17 Workers At Chicken Farm.

Occupants of a large frame building on the Broilerama Chicken Farm, Route 209, Kerhonkson, evacuated the living quarters shortly before 6:30 p. m., Monday as fire raced through the structure.

Domingo C. Cruz, a farm laborer, suffered injuries of his hands and face when he dashed back into the building to get some clothes, according to Fire Chief Emanuel Samuels, of Kerhonkson.

16 Others Flee

Sixteen other farm laborers fled from the building. Kerhonkson firemen were summoned to the property owned by Abe Meshkov, State Road, Kerhonkson, at 6:30 p. m., and at 6:31 p. m. mutual aid calls dispatched five companies from Accord, Kripplush, High Falls, Stone Ridge and Wawarsing to the scene to assist.

Because of a shortage of water, fire tank trucks shuttled between the scene of the blaze to a distant supply to get water to combat the flames. Chief Samuels said 13 pieces of fire apparatus were at the scene.

"When they arrived at the farm, flames were pouring out of three sides of the 150x40 foot building," Samuels told The Freeman. "Once we got inside with hoses we gained control of the fire."

The chief said farm laborers said the fire originated in the recreation room and raced through the structure. A corridor divides the interior of the building, the chief said.

Samuels said most of the fire was in the boiler room area.

Poughkeepsie Woman Held for Slashing

An 18-year-old Poughkeepsie woman was in custody in that city today, facing a second degree assault charge as the result of a slashing incident Sunday night.

Delois Gibson, of 39 North Perry Street, Poughkeepsie, was accused of cutting Mrs. Geneva Cramartie, 29, of 88 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, causing lacerations of the head, face and an ear which required 40 sutures at Vassar Hospital.

Police Chief John L. Martin said Mrs. Cramartie told police she visited Miss Gibson and the latter pulled a razor from a pocket and assaulted her.

Detectives Dominie Frizone, Jack Brophy and Robert Schuyler made the arrest.

Hang On To Good Stock
And Let Profits Build

Q: "We have some stocks which I think we should sell because they have made us a profit. There is no immediate need for the money concerned. But I happen to believe that when a person holds a stock on which there is a profit, he should sell. My husband disagrees with me. He thinks we should hold on. We own International Telephone, Pfizer, and Bristol-Myers. Which of us do you think is right?" — R. K.

A: I'm going to side with your husband on this one. Your stocks are, in my opinion, very strong holdings. I believe you would be missing out on future gains if you gave up your present position.

Wall Street has produced a number of pretty sound maxims, one of which is "Cut your losses short and let your profits run." I think this is an excellent rule to follow.

Occasional errors in judgment crop up in event the best investment programs. However, if

Drinking Age Is To Go Unchanged For Least Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's controversial minimum drinking-age law will remain unchanged for at least another year, despite pressures from other states and church groups.

Sen. John J. Marchi, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Intoxicating Liquors, said evidence developed by his committee did not justify any recommendation to this session of the Legislature.

Conflicting arguments were heard at committee hearings across the state on whether the minimum age of 18 should be raised.

Marchi said Monday the committee would hold additional hearings exclusively on the drinking-age question "to zero in on this thing."

The earlier hearings dealt with all phases of the liquor law. Marchi said his committee would propose that a group outside the Legislature, perhaps a university, undertake survey on the drinking-age question.

Gov. Rockefeller, when pressed yesterday at a meeting with about 190 members of the State Council of (Protestant) Churches, declined to commit himself on the question.

He said, in reply to questions, that he was "very sympathetic with your point of view."

The council and other church groups have advocated increasing the drinking age to 21.

So have neighboring states, which have a minimum age of 21.

Composer's Work To Be Performed At Carnegie Hall

NEW PALTZ — Feb. 22 a new work by Vivian Fine, will receive its first performance by Claude Montoux and Walter Trampler at a concert to be held in Carnegie Hall in New York City.

The work, a duo for flute and viola, is called Iconomachy. It was especially written for Mr. Montoux, flutist and conductor of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Symphony, and Mr. Trampler, renowned violinist who has appeared as soloist with the Budapest Quartet.

Miss Fine will also be represented on the American Music Festival given by Station WNYC of New York City. Her Concertante for Piano and Orchestra will be performed on the master-work hour at 9 a. m. and 7 p. m.

For her season at the Broadway Theatre, Martha Graham and her company will present for the third consecutive year Alceste with music by Miss Fine. Alceste will be performed March 5, 9, 11, 13 and 15.

Miss Fine was recently elected vice president of the American Composers Alliance, an organization of 120 composers of serious music affiliated with Broadcast Music, Inc.

Miss Fine, in private life, is the wife of Benjamin Karp, professor at the State University College here where they reside.

Buffalo Has New Chief of Detectives

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — In a continuing shakeup of Buffalo's Police Department, Police Commissioner Howard Finney Monday named Inspector James J. Lewis as his new chief of detectives.

Lewis replaced John J. Whalen, who was assigned to the local police academy.

Whalen, who held a patrolman's rating, was appointed chief of detectives in 1958 by former Commissioner Frank Felicetta.

Finney has made wholesale changes in the force since his appointment a few weeks ago. He got the job after Republican Chester Kowal defeated incumbent Democrat Frank Sedita in last November's mayoral election.

This is the Ford Fairlane's new Challenger "260" V-8.

There's no other V-8 like it. It's the latest in a series of Ford V-8 triumphs that started back in 1932 when Ford introduced the world's first popular-priced V-8. Today—30 years and 30 million V-8's later—the Challenger "260" adds new fuel to the hottest performance record in V-8 history. It gives you all the time-tested toughness of iron—with a lightness and compactness iron never had before. A muscular 164 hp, this new Challenger "260" V-8 is all snap, sparkle and smoothness. It runs on regular, yet gives you better gas mileage than any standard-size 6-cylinder car. Price it and you're in for a surprise—a Fairlane V-8 carries a smaller price tag than some compact Sixes. And, of course, a Fairlane gives you big-car room and fine-car quality you'll find in no other car anywhere near Fairlane's amazing low price. There's never been a buy like Fairlane because there's never been a car like Fairlane; that's why this all-new car from Ford is now out-selling every other "new-size" car!

May Be 'Yes' on Gov.

Scott Decision Due This Week on Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott says he will announce Thursday in Philadelphia whether he will seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Scott Monday authorized issuance of a statement by his Washington office saying he discussed the situation with his wife and "agreed on affirmative action."

An aide said the "affirmative action" part of the statement referred to Scott's having made a decision. The aide said this did not necessarily mean the decision would be affirmative in choosing to run. He said Scott insisted there be no elaboration of the statement.

Affirmative: Inquirer

The Philadelphia Inquirer, however, said flatly that "Scott had decided to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor." The Inquirer added: "That was indicated Monday in a statement issued by the senator saying that he and Mrs. Scott had discussed the heated Republican gubernatorial situation confronting Republicans and had 'agreed on affirmative action.'"

The Inquirer said the "only possibility of Scott changing his mind will develop if Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside... withdraws and proposes a compromise choice."

A short time later, Republican chairmen from six counties in the 10th Congressional District adopted a resolution urging Rep. William Scranton to "reconsider his decision to run for re-election to Congress and instead to declare his availability as a candidate for the office of governor."

A decision one way or the other by Scranton possibly could influence the action of Scott, who is opposed to the candidacy of Woodside. Scott has the backing of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Harrisburg Woodside and his running mate for the U.S. Senate, Rep. James E. Van Zandt, reaffirmed their determination to make a primary fight if necessary. In a joint statement they announced the appointment of Frank C. Hilton of Cambridge Springs as their campaign chairman and State Sen. John H. Ware III as treasurer of the Woodside-Van Zandt Campaign Committee.

Attending the 10th Congressional District meeting in Scranton were Miss Gail Harris, representing Lackawanna County Chairman Henry S. Fuller, and the following county chairmen: Lester F. Burlein, Wayne; John Austin, Wyoming; Silas Sheerer, Sullivan; Richard Masters, Susquehanna; and Maurice Epstein, Bradford.

In their statement, the chairmen said: "We recognize the personal sacrifice we are asking Congressman Scranton to make but we are so convinced that in no other manner can we prevent a cleavage in our party's ranks and assure a victory in November."

Disarmament Optimists Must Think of Time and Red China

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Time and the Red Chinese are fine sedatives for anyone getting optimistic about next month's disarmament conference which Premier Khrushchev wanted to turn into a summit conference.

Disarmament meetings in one form or another—whether it was just two or three big nations talking or many more—have been going on almost since the end of World War II without agreement.

This history alone should be a restraining influence on expectations that 18-nation conference which starts March 14 in Geneva will turn out differently.

If it should, the time element involved in bringing about any kind of general disarmament is immense.

The problem much more immediate than general disarmament is getting agreement to ban nuclear tests. If this kind of agreement were achieved at Geneva it could be put into operation faster than general disarmament.

But it isn't clear that the Russians will even agree to discuss a nuclear ban at the Geneva disarmament discussions. The United Nations, which approved the conference, left the nuclear test ban question vague.

The West how and in the past has insisted on an inspection system—which means, for instance, that the United States and Russia would place inspectors in each other's country—to prevent cheating.

Spy System to Reds

The Russians, balking at this in the past, have called it a spy system.

Granted, however, that East and West finally agreed on it, general disarmament would not happen all at once. It would be phased out by stages, as the experts say, meaning it would be carried out a step at a time.

The obvious purpose would be to give the participating nations time to be sure the first stage was being carried out honestly before they went on to dismantle some more of their armaments in the second stage.

So general disarmament, even with agreement to go through with it, would be spread out over some years.

Under the Soviet dictatorship, Premier Khrushchev, once he said "yes," could pretty well make his agreement an order.

In this country Congress would certainly have to consider any agreement President Kennedy made, or wanted to make. The congressional hurdle over a step as monumental as disarmament can be imagined.

Not Among the 18

Yet, even if all the agreements were made and the United States and Russia felt confident each other would fully carry out the bargain, there would still be a frightening element missing. That is Red China.

It is not among the 18 nations which the United Nations decided should take part in the conference. All 18 are U. N. members and Red China is not. The conference will start without China, the world's biggest nation.

The Red Chinese, so far as is known, do not yet have nuclear power and so do not have nuclear weapons. But they're working on it and in time should have their own arsenal.

Any 18-nation agreement on disarmament would be ludicrous without agreement by Red China.

If the 18 should make real progress toward agreement, Red China probably would be called in. But the answer to whether Red China would agree is something the Western statesmen must look for in a crystal ball at this moment.

May Agree for Prestige

It's possible Red China—not recognized as a legitimate government by the United States and not a member of the so-called family of nations because it is kept out of the United Nations by this country—might want to agree for prestige and to have a voice in the United Nations.

But that's sheer guessing. If relations between Red China and Russia are as bad as sometimes reported, the Chinese Communists might want no part of a disarmament deal with the Soviets.

In short, this disarmament conference will start its March meeting in a hazy way with no more reason to expect it to be successful than any of its predecessors except that mankind is getting more fearful of war every day.

Count Better Than Finesse

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Another old bridge proverb is that a peek is worth two finesse. Peeking is not considered proper, but you can frequently obtain the same results by counting the opponent's hands.

South ruffed the third heart with dummy's jack of trumps. East discarded a diamond.

At this point South could have drawn trumps and taken a diamond finesse against East with reasonable safety, but South wanted to make his contract absolutely sure.

He played dummy's ace of spades, ruffed a spade, cashed his ace of trumps, led a trump to dummy and noted that each opponent had started with two trumps.

Now he discarded a diamond on dummy's king of spades and ruffed out the jack of spades. When both opponents later followed to the fourth spade he had a complete count. West had shown up with six hearts, four spades and two clubs and he could only have one diamond. A diamond to dummy's ace accounted for that card and South led and finessed dummy's jack with complete safety.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

At Sea Since 15,
But Luxury Liner
Captain Hates It

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Geoffrey M. Fletcher, craggy-faced captain of the British luxury liner Andes, has a confession to make about his 46 years at sea.

"I hate it," he told astonished reporters Monday after the 27,000-ton vessel docked on its first visit to San Francisco.

"I'm afraid of it," he continued calmly, holding a cup of tea in one hand and his pipe in the other. "You should see me at sea, especially in rough weather. I know what the sea can do."

Capt. Fletcher, a bluff English seagoer with sparse gray hair and an engaging smile, received the press in his cabin aboard the flagship of the British Royal Mail Lines. He disclosed that this is his last voyage before retirement when the Andes returns to Southampton on its round-the-world cruise.

He was asked: "Then why, captain, did you go to sea in the first place?"

It was sort of family tradition, he said, and then added thoughtfully: "It was poverty. I went to sea at 15 and I'm 60 now. I've

5,000 Are Expected
At Towns Meeting

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Almost 5,000 township officials from throughout the state were expected for today's opening of the annual three-day convention of the New York State Association of Towns.

The convention deals with local government problems.

Gov. Rockefeller, who first detailed his scholar incentive program at last year's meeting as a means of extending state support to colleges, is scheduled to address the conference Thursday.

State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz will address the session Wednesday. Other speakers include State Comptroller Arthur Levitt and former Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, now head of the advisory board of the State Office of Local Government.

been too cowardly to change."

"Would you send your son to sea?"

"I happen to be a bachelor, thank God," replied Fletcher.

"Actually, the sea's not so bad when the sun is shining," he said in reply to a persistent questioner. "But when the weather turns bad I don't like it a bit. Oh, I don't go around trembling, of course—that wouldn't do, you know—but I don't like it."

Students Set Out
For Colombia,
Using Steamship

PANAMA (AP) — A group of seven students on a friendship tour has set sail for Colombia again—this time by steamship.

The students had been halted in Panama after their amphibious landing craft (DUKW) was disabled on the Caribbean coast of Panama last month.

They had attempted to sail to Colombia in the craft but the vessel was disabled by heavy waves. Seven students, the remainder of the party, left by ship Monday for Cartagena, Colombia. The amphibious craft, repaired and repainted, also was on board.

An eighth member of the original group, George Burrill, 18, of (Claymore Farms) Ticonderoga, N.Y., remained in Panama. Burrill accidentally shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle while the craft was disabled.

Before the attempted sea voyage, the students had been traveling by road on their tour.

Receives Fellowship. To Indiana Univ.; Major Is Musicology

JANE GUNTER

Miss Jane Gunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gunter of 106 Clifton Avenue, has been awarded an Indiana University Graduate School Fellowship. At the University, Miss Gunter will work for her doctorate in musicology.

Miss Gunter received a Bachelor of Music degree from the Eastman School of Music in 1959. She earned her Master of Music degree from Indiana University last spring. Her major is voice and violin.

Leonard H. Stine was Miss Gunter's teacher at the outset of her training.

Secretaries Plan Dinner-Meeting Here

A special program "SOS," "Secretaries on the Spot," arranged and moderated by Mrs. Carol Perry, education committee chairman, will be presented at the February 19 dinner meeting of the Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association to be held at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Problems encountered by secretaries in their daily contacts will be under discussion by a panel of experienced secretaries, representing various industries and offices in the area. Questions discussed will be of considerable interest to those seeking to improve their secretarial efficiency.

Following the panel discussion, questions will be presented for open debate. Climaxing the program, attendees will vote on the best solution to the problems presented. The winning solution will be submitted to NSA Headquarters as the local Chapter's entry in a contest sponsored by the International Education Committee of the Association.

Members are urged to make early reservations. Area secretaries interested in attending this meeting are cordially invited to contact Miss Lillian M. Styles, vice president, for further details or reservations.

New Projects Are Goal of Local Junior League Group

Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Kingston held on Monday, Feb. 5 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The business meeting was followed by a luncheon.

Several by-law changes were presented by the by-laws committee and voted on by the membership. A panel discussion on the pros and cons of the Exchange was held with Mrs. Arthur A. Davis Jr. as moderator, Mrs. Herbert E. Gade, Mrs. James Norton and Mrs. James L. Quinn serving on the panel. The Board felt there is a need for the league to look into the possibility of a new project and therefore set-up a project finding committee for this purpose.

Mrs. Robert J. Ryan was appointed by Mrs. Robert MacKinnon as chairman of the project finding committee for the coming year.

After completing a provisional training course under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, the following girls were accepted as active members: Mrs. James C. Embree, Mrs. Ward W. Ingalsbee Jr., Mrs. John Joseph, Mrs. Kurken V. Kirk, Mrs. George F. Reid and Mrs. Mary D. Short.

Sisterhood Ahavath Israel will meet Wednesday, Feb. 14 in the Vestry Hall at 8:30 p. m.

The business session will deal with future plans for many exciting events. Mrs. Joseph Colon and Mrs. Al Horowitz will report on the Cabaret Night to be held Saturday, March 31.

The program for the evening will be dedicated to inter-faith brotherhood. The Rev. Harold Schadwald pastor of Hurley Reformed Church will speak. Mrs. Sidney Rafalowsky is in charge of the program. Refreshments will be served.

Guild Dinner-Dance May 26 to Benefit Two Special Funds

Two funds—one for a journalism scholarship, the other a children's vacation fund—will benefit from the proceeds of the seventh annual Page One Ball sponsored by Kingston Newspaper Guild to be held Saturday, May 26 at Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mrs. Dorothy Narel, Guild president said proceeds from the annual event of the working press of the Kingston area will provide a scholarship to a deserving high school senior in the county, planning to major in journalism, and will send five children to summer camp for two weeks each.

Features of the annual social highlight of the spring season will include the selection of a Page One Queen at a special reception prior to the ball.

Page One Awards will be made by the Guild in the fields of labor, journalism, music and sports, as in the past.

Tickets, Reservations—Tiano, chairman; Mrs. Betty Radell, Donald Burgher, Sherwood Lasher, Maurice Hamilton, and Cawein.

Publicity—Albert Cawein, chairman; Mrs. Jean Dolan, Walter Clark and Maurice Hamilton.

Entertainment—Mrs. Narel, chairman; Mrs. Saban and Tiano.

Photography—Milton Wagenfroh, chairman, and John Krub. Hostesses—Miss Bruno, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Reis, Miss Elaine Schryver, Miss Jean Jurkowski and Miss Woinoski.

Door Committee—Robert Hillis, chairman, and William Bates. Revolving Committee—Mrs. Jessie Wolfenstein, Roy Ransom, Ward Ingalsbee, Bert Beesmer, Chet Beesmer and Mrs. Patricia Crawley. Edward Palladino is Page One treasurer.

Mrs. Narel will serve as general coordinator of all committees.

Saugerties Youth Council Square Set Courses Scheduled

The first session for a new children's square dance course will be started in Saugerties Friday night under the auspices of Hudson Valley District YMCA and Saugerties Youth Council. The course will be taught by George Clapper, Catskill square dance caller. It will run for 10 weeks from 6:30 to 8 p. m. at the municipal auditorium in Saugerties.

Boys and girls from 8-14 years of age may attend. There will be a small fee for admission. The boys and girls are taught the Western square dance movements. This will be the third group in the valley that the YMCA has for square dancing. Children classes are held in Catskill and Chatham.

Last Saturday night the Catskill, Hudson and Chatham children's groups held a Square-Rama at the Morris Memorial building in Chatham.

Area P-T-A News

Port Ewen

The Port Ewen Parent-Teacher Association will hold its next meeting 8 p. m., Feb. 21 in the school auditorium.

Arthur Brown, investigator for the Ulster County Sheriff's Office, will speak on the increase of public offenses by the very young in the area.

Founder's Day will be observed. A local resident will receive a life membership in the P-T-A. A contribution will be made in the person's name to the Jenkins Memorial Fund, the scholarship fund for students going into the teaching profession or teachers who wish to do graduate work.

All members and interested persons may attend. Refreshments will be served.

School No. 3

The P-T-A at School No. 3 will meet tonight at 8 in the school. The Jenkins Memorial award will be presented to a citizen who has made an outstanding contribution to the welfare of children.

Casting for Show Planned by Temple Set for This Sunday

Gerald Gruberg and Mrs. Sam Levine, co-chairmen of the annual Cabaret Night, have announced a meeting will be held on Sunday for the purpose of casting. The meeting will be held in the social hall of the Temple.

Everyone interested in participating is urged to attend.

Home Extension Service News

The Whittier Unit will meet Wednesday, Feb. 14, 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Milburn Suenram. The Community Chest film—Much Like Us—will be shown. Mrs. Albert Goodwin and Mrs. Suenram will serve as hostesses.

Response to YOU Increasing

Teenagers aren't waiting for YOU Day. Their YOU activities, from Piggy Bank Parties to puppet shows to penny weeks, are gaining momentum throughout the United States and 20 other lands.

YOU—Youth Out for UNICEF—is the international good will program co-sponsored by Seventeen Magazine and the U. S. Committee for UNICEF. YOU's campaign to stimulate awareness and interest in the work of the United Nations Children's Fund is climaxed each year on YOU Day. But thoughtful and generous teenagers, striving to aid millions of needy children and mothers in more than 100 developing countries, are involved in educational and fund raising activities all year. Here are just a few examples of recent YOU doings:

In Nasha, N. H., a 35-girl YOU church group raised funds at a Piggy Bank Party.

At Greenway High School, Coleraine, Minn., homeroom dues were donated to YOU.

The 30-member YOU Club at Northwestern High School, Hyattsville, Md., sponsors programs about foreign countries, their problems and how UNICEF is helping them. Their first guest speaker told of her two-year stay in Viet Nam. Three Washington, D. C. embassies have promised to send other speakers. In addition, this group held a baked goods sale during lunch hour to raise funds.

The YOU group of the Y-Teen Club, South High School, Knoxville, Tenn., held a penny week in school and neighborhoods.

The YOU Club at University City High School in St. Louis County, Mo., held a "Lipstick Bowl" (all girls) football game, raising money through ticket sales.

At Alexander Hamilton Junior High School, Elizabeth, N. J., students each gave YOU the twenty-five cents they received from a cereal company's money-back, box-top offer.

The Takoda Horizon Club, Jennings, Mo., contributed group commissions from the sale of Camp Fire Girl Candy.

A Cheshire, Connecticut girl donated her New Year's Eve baby-sitting earnings.

Two New York City girls raised funds by putting on a puppet show.

Students at John Rennie High School, Pointe Claire, Quebec, Canada organized a student dance on October 13 with the theme, "Make Friday the 13th a lucky day for someone somewhere." They raised more than $230 for YOU and are planning another dance on YOU Day.

In the mail that pours into YOU headquarters at the United Nations in New York, members express sentiments like:

"I am very happy to send this and I hope it will help many needy children . . ." "This gives us the most rewarding feeling . . ." "We hope our contribution will aid in your wonderful tasks, and allow some small child to grow up to be a normal, healthy, happy adult . . ."

YOU Day is Saturday, April 14. What will you be doing for UNICEF on YOU Day and every day the year 'round?

Around the World Supper Is Planned By Reformed Church

The Marblertown Reformed Church in Stone Ridge will sponsor an "Around the World" supper on Saturday evening, March 3, beginning at 5:30 o'clock. Foods and specialties of countries all over the world will be featured.

"Brotherhood through Understanding" is a goal of our modern age and the Stone Ridge church is striving to promote this understanding by providing the public with an opportunity to taste foods of different countries. This will prove, it is hoped, that people, as well as foods, although different, are basically the same.

The following committees are working on the "Around the World" supper:

Mrs. S. Robert Kelder, general chairman; Mrs. Edward Maurer and Mrs. Charles Strong, publicity chairman; Mrs. Carl Gazlay, food preparation chairman; Mrs. Robert Fuhr, decorating; Mrs. Edward Coles and Mrs. Elsie Hart, dining room; Mrs. Edward Green, costume chairman.

Child Hostess Wins Prize

Q: I know that a hostess never keeps a prize won in her own house, but does this same rule apply to a child? I had a birthday party for my six-year-old daughter; the children played games and I gave out prizes to the winners. It so happened that my daughter was the winner of one of the games and I gave her the prize. I was later criticized by a member of my family, who told me I was wrong to give my daughter the prize and that it should have been given to one of her guests. I am sure my daughter would have been very disappointed had she not been given the prize, which she rightfully won. I would very much like to have your opinion on this matter.

A: Six is not too young to teach a child good manners, and it is not good manners for a hostess to accept a prize in her own house. Properly, the prize should have been given to the runner-up.

Q: I am going to be married soon and would like to know if there is any way I can avoid having to kiss the wedding guests. I am not a "kissing" person and, therefore, I do not like the idea of being smeared with other people's lipstick and thereby spoiling my own appearance.

A: It has been the accepted custom all through the years for a bride to be kissed by the guests at her wedding and I am afraid you have no choice but to grin and bear it as best you can.

Q: Are place mats proper at a formal dinner? I am of the opinion that a tablecloth should be used at a formal dinner and that place mats are proper only for lunch and informal dinners. A friend disagrees and says that place mats are proper at all times. Will you please set us straight on this?

A: You are right. A tablecloth must be used at a formal dinner.

Should the tissue papers be removed before mailing wedding invitations? The answer to this question as well as correct wedding forms will be found in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of handling, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Freeman.

Tip for Milady from Columnist:

Valentine's Day Good Time to Change Things

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Lady, has your marriage become dull, routine and—let's admit it—a bit boring? Does your husband turn an obedient and absent-minded cheek toward you when you kiss him goodbye as he starts off to work in the morning? Well, lady, maybe it isn't altogether his fault that your life together is something less than one long glad sweet song. Maybe you're at fault, too—startling as the thought may be.

Reverse the Question
Valentine's Day is a good time to change all that.

The way to change this dreary situation, lady, is not to ask yourself what your husband ought to do for you on Valentine's Day—but to see what you can do for him.

What can a wife do at Valentine time to bring back that old love-light in her husband's eyes? How can she woo him to a new appreciation of her timeless charms? Well, there are many ways. Give him an extra day for lunch.

It's Spirit That Counts

Surprise him with a present. He has probably hidden in the back of the closet that rainbow-colored necktie you gave him for Christmas. Dig it out, wrap it in a fancy box, and give it to him all over again. He won't remember you gave it to him before. Every man tries to forget the Christmas ties he receives. Anyway, it isn't the value of a gift that counts—it's the spirit behind it.

Send him a mushy Valentine, but don't ruin it by signing it with your own name. Sign the name of the girl that filled your husband in high school. That'll send the old boy's blood pressure up 40 points.

Best of all, dress up in your slinkiest dress. Cook your husband's favorite meal, toast him with champagne.

A Valentine Night

After dinner, adjourn to the living room. Light a log fire—or, if you don't have a fireplace, turn up the thermostat. Sit you husband in a comfortable sofa, turn down the lights, stick a four-bit cigar in his mouth, and run your fingers lovingly through his hair—if he has any left.

Now cuddle up at his feet and softly read to him from a book of love poems. When he begins to snore, cover him with a blanket and let him sleep on the sofa all night.

When your husband goes to his office next morning he'll tell everybody, "Guess what happened last night? My wife went out of her ever-loving mind!"

But he'll remember your romantic Valentine evening together—and brag about it—as long as he lives.

Eleanor Heads JFK Commission On Women Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has set a new commission off on the task of finding out "the things that are right and the things that are wrong" concerning the status of women.

He told the group Monday he wants to make sure American women "are able to move ahead and perform without any discrimination by law or by implication."

The 26-member Commission on the Status of Women, headed by Eleanor Roosevelt, then held its first meeting, in the executive wing of the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who came to Washington to preside at the two-day organization meeting, said the commission's major aim was "to get information on whatever discriminations exist and get it before the public."

In setting up the commission last December, Kennedy said he wanted its report by Oct. 1, 1963.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

By-Pass to Bearsville, Nine New Parking Areas Projected Among Growth Plan Proposals

A proposed major realignment of Route 375 to bypass the congested section of Woodstock village is one of the highlights of the Woodstock Planning Board's exhibition of maps and charts now on view at the Woodstock Artists Association Gallery.

The twenty-nine maps, charts, and diagrams in the display which opened Friday explain and lead up to the proposed Growth Plan, which will be the subject of a public hearing on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. in Town Hall.

In addition to the proposed 375 bypass, the plan also shows proposed feeder roads that will further relieve congestion.

Another highlight is the allocation of nine areas for additional parking space for an estimated total of 446 cars, the largest having provisions for parking 94 cars.

The Growth Plan, officially designated as the Master Plan in legal steps toward planning and zoning, is designed to accommodate an estimated 15,000 to 25,000 inhabitants who are expected in Woodstock by 1985.

A baby today will have reached voting age by that year.

Civic centers surrounded by residential and commercial development are shown in Wittenberg, Willow, Lake Hill, Shady, Bearsville and Zena. A small center is also projected in the Daisy area.

Community facilities, including a health center and a youth center, are shown. And there are several suggested locations for elementary schools. A system of sidewalks and pedestrian paths is proposed for the various population centers, with adequate parking space for shoppers.

Sewage Disposal

Provisions have also been made for a sewage disposal plant for the Woodstock water district.

Some 20 of the maps and diagrams show present conditions of traffic, soil conditions, buildable land, and water resources.

Included in the exhibit is the collection of maps prepared by the Ontario Central Schools District in connection with their projected building needs. It shows massive concentration of pre-school and school age children in the Bearsville-Woodstock-West Hurley portions of the school district. These maps have been loaned through the courtesy of Dr. George R. Sullivan, supervising principal.

The exhibit material was prepared by Brown and Anthony, municipal planners, under the direction of the Woodstock Planning Board. The work was started last June under a contract paid for by public subscription. Exhaustive research with state and county agencies, school administrators, together with complete field studies by the Brown and Anthony staff, forms the basis for the plan. It is further supported by careful statistical analysis of population growth figures and economic data, the Guide points out.

The plan also provides for light industry to provide employment in the town and carry some of the tax burden which otherwise would fall heavily on home owners.

Open Till March 3

Planning Board members, who have all devoted many hours to this work, are: J. C. van Rijn, chairman; Martin F. Comeau, Dudley Summers, Benjamin L. Webster and Mrs. Carolyn Wilson.

The exhibit will be open ten days before and ten days after the public hearing. The hours are: Monday through Friday, 4:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.; Saturdays, 3 p. m. to 7 p. m.; Sundays, 12 noon to 4 p. m. The last day will be Saturday, March 3.

The Planning Board's Guide to the Growth Plan lists several assets of Woodstock township. Among these are: open building land, scenic countryside, natural bodies of water, relatively light development in outlying areas, many attractive homes, good residential areas, water supply system, town park, creek with some swimming, museum, library, opera, theatre, village green, golf course, high quality commercial facilities, many art galleries, extensive state properties, permanent open spaces and good regional traffic facilities.

Some of the features that hamper Woodstock's orderly growth, the Guide says are: insufficient local employment, inadequate facilities for teenagers and young adults, scattered substandard buildings. There is a lack of controls for: location of commercial and industrial facilities, residential densities, resort activities, billboards-open junk yard, inadequate water flow, unsightly town garage, dangerous intersections, overcrowd-

A coffee social period will follow the meeting. All women of the parish are cordially invited to attend and participate in the schedule planned for the months to come.

AHSA Show Set By Riding Club At Ring, June 24

After a one-year lapse, Woodstock will again have an AHSA recognized horshow. It will be held Sunday, June 24, at the Woodstock Riding Club's Ohayo Mountain ring, club president Edward DeGraff of Kingston has announced.

The show chairman will be Larry Swars of Stone Ridge, who has run a number of highly successful AHSA recognized shows for the club in the past.

This will come as good news to the ever increasing number of horse owners in Ulster County, as they will once again have an opportunity to compete for points in a recognized show without traveling far afield.

It will be the Woodstock Riding Club's 17th annual AHSA recognized show. More details will be released shortly.

Noted Sculptor, Archipenko In Arts Institute

Alexander Archipenko, who has conducted a school in sculpturing in Woodstock since 1939, is listed among a panel of outstanding artists in many fields elected to membership in the National Institute of Arts and Letters in New York.

Besides Archipenko, those selected include: Walter Gropius, architect; Isamu Noguchi, sculptor; Mark Schorer, biographer; E. B. White, essayist; and Lukas

Foss, composer; Witter Bynner, poet; Francis Ferguson, critic; Robert Fitzgerald, translator of the classics; George F. Kennan, historian of American diplomacy, and Ross Lee Finney and Leon Kirchner, composers.

Malcolm Cowley, president of the Institute, made the announcement.

Alexander Archipenko has been known as an outstanding sculptor for more than 50 years. He was one of the first to experiment with abstract arrangements of forms, as far back as 1908.

Born in Kiev, Russia, in 1887, he studied at the Art School there and in 1908 he went to Paris, where he experimented widely in the use of different materials, developing what he calls "sculpto-painting."

Coming to the United States in 1923, he became a citizen in 1928. Since 1939 he has taught in his own school both in New York City and Woodstock, as well as at Washington State University, the New Bauhaus in Chicago and the University of Kansas City.

He has exhibited nationally and internationally, so frequently that in 1958 his 115th one-man show opened in Dusseldorf, Germany, before traveling to other cities in Europe. His work is represented in many museum and private collections throughout Europe and America.

Membership in the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the highest honor society of the arts in the country, is limited to 250 native or naturalized citizens qualified by notable achievements in art, literature or music.

Election to the Institute is an honor conferred by working artists of distinction on their peers. The recent elections bring the present membership to 241. Formal induction will take place at the Joint Annual Ceremony of the National Institute and American Academy of Arts and Letters on May 24.

Marist College to Construct Athletic Field and Building

An area 450 by 400 feet is being leveled on Marist College property for the construction of an athletic field with facilities for an athletic building, Athletic Director Brother William J. Murphy said today.

Brother Murphy made known that the area, south of Donnelly Hall on the Marist campus, would include two soccer fields to be used for intramural soccer and football, softball, baseball, track and other sports at the college.

The Marist athletic director announced that soccer would begin informally in the fall of this year with varsity players selected from the intramural ranks. The fall of 1963 should show an organized interscholastic soccer schedule for Marist, Brother Murphy pointed out.

"Already, we have scrimmages lined up with Danbury State and Bard for this fall," Brother Murphy said. No coach has been named as yet but several Brothers at the school with soccer coaching experience will work out with the prospective varsity candidates this fall.

Thirty candidates are expected to report to coach Joe Catanzaro as workouts for the 1962 season get under way Thursday.

Four first boat veterans will return for the season which includes the Dad Vail Regatta and the Rusty Callow Meet. Returning varsity oarsmen include Tony Campilli, a 20 year old senior from Wappingers Falls, sophomore John Doss of Poughkeepsie, a 19 year old veteran who rowed at Arlington High School, Walt Hirst, 19 year old sophomore from Rensselaer, N. Y., and Ed DiSanto, a 20 year old junior from the Bronx. Others who are good prospects include: Jim Daley of Poughkeepsie, who rowed with the Columbia freshmen last year; Mike Chiriat of Poughkeepsie who rowed with the Pioneers; John Convery of Poughkeepsie who rowed with Arlington High School; Bob Meade who also hails from Poughkeepsie and who rowed for Arlington; Jim Callahan of Poughkeepsie a returning veteran, and Tracy Flanagan of Newburgh who rowed in club races at Clinton, Conn. Basketball team members, Terry Macken, Walt Barisonke and Ronnie Franks will also be crew candidates.

Gary Smith of Poughkeepsie will return as crew coxain this year. He was formerly coxain at Poughkeepsie High School before enrolling at Marist. Coach Catanzaro summed up crew prospects at Marist by stating: "We can use all the help we can get. We have a rough schedule ahead of us."

Blanchard Hiked to $21,000; Bob Turley Signs Contract

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Blanchard, part-time catcher and outfielder who is carrying a first baseman's mitt around the New York Yankees advance baseball training camp, has received a $7,000 raise for being "captain of the scrubbin'" for the world champions.

The 29-year-old reserve signed his 1962 contract Monday along with pitchers Bob Turley and Hal Stowe, and received a 50 per cent raise to $21,000 for his hefty hitting in 1961.

The slugging utilityman swung at a .305 clip with 21 homers, winning eight games in a pinch-hitting role—four with circuit shots. He also tied a major league record by hitting homers in four consecutive times at bat, although he did it in several games. He continued his clutch hitting with two homers in the World Series against Cincinnati.

Blanchard said with a big, broad grin: "You know, I'm the captain of the scrubbin' (reserves). This is my eighth year in rookie camp."

Turley, the outstanding pitcher in the majors in 1958 when he posted a 21-7 record and a 2-1 mark in the World Series, was bothered by arm trouble last year. He took an estimated $3,000 cut to $25,000. Stowe, a left-hander, was 14-1 with Amarillo of the Texas League.

Signing activity among other clubs was light with the Cincinnati Reds coming to terms with outfielder Wally Post, a .294 hitter last year, and rookie hurler Bob Risenhoover while the Milwaukee Braves signed rookie infielder Amado Samuel.

Kingston High School cagers will try to rebound from their loss at Poughkeepsie with a non-league engagement at Wappingers Falls tonight. The Indians are woefully weak and this figure to be a good tonic for the locals.

In other area action, Newburgh plays at Liberty and Monticello is at Poughkeepsie in the DUSO; while in the UCAL, Pine Bush is at Rondout Valley and New Paltz at Highland.

Non-league activity has Rhinebeck at Lady of Lourdes, Cardinal Farley at Red Hook and Marlboro at Valley Central.

Wappingers lost, 52-47, at Kingston earlier in the season and since that time, the home side has gone downhill. The only win has been over Cardinal Farley and the team has dropped 12 games.

Stopped Playing

Coach John Gilligan was very disappointed with his players in their loss to Poughkeepsie. The team simply stopped playing after a close first half, netting only four baskets in the third and fourth periods.

After tonight's game, Kingston plays at Lady of Lourdes on Friday and that one figure to be a tough assignment. Then comes Monticello and Newburgh before the closing tilt here against Middletown. Since Newburgh and Poughkeepsie are well ahead of Kingston, there isn't much hope of a berth in the sectional tourney.

Newburgh and Poughkeepsie figure to romp in tonight's DUSO action. Those two titans will collide Friday at the Hilly City gym and the Goldies need a win to just about put the loop crown under lock and key. The Pioneers have to score a victory to move into a first place tie.

Rondout Valley, still in the UCAL race, is the choice over Pine Bush. The New Paltz and Highland tilt should be interesting. It's a neighborhood rivalry and both clubs haven't had good seasons.

Saugerties, still in the DCSL picture, has a day off but the Sawyers will host Arlington on Friday and will be at Wappingers and Roosevelt next week. They have to win all three for a chance at the crown.

Two Teams Tied In Shuffle Loop

Johnny Luceri had high individual score of 21 points and Angelo Altamari scored a single slide of nine to pace St. Mary's Society to a 7-0 victory over the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a tie with White Eagle Society for first place in the Inter-Fraternal Shuffleboard league play last week.

St. Mary's shutout the VFW 7-0 while the Eagles nosed the Knights 4-3. In the other match, Moose Lodge won, 4-3, over the Knights of Columbus.

Individual high scores were Joe Wenzel, White Eagles, 20; John Keizer, Elks, 17; Frank Murphy, K of C, 16 and Bill Brizee, Vets, 10.

This week's action has the Elks visiting the K of C and St. Mary's at the Moose Club tonight and White Eagles at VFW on Wednesday. The regular season concludes next week.

The standings:
Team W L
White Eagles 80 46
St. Mary's Society 80 46
Elks Lodge 62 64
Moose Lodge 60 63
VFW 55 71
Knights of Columbus 41 83

John A. Schatzel, 12, anchored with 200-515. Eight-year-old Stephan Ferraro decked 495 and George Williams, 11, contributed 475 to the big series. Elsewhere in the league, Reginald Palen hit 530, John Valle 478.

Three Brothers Sweep in HVBL

Tom Carlino led with a 645 slam, as Three Brothers Egg Farms swept Monticello Raceway, 3-0, in a Hudson Valley league match. His games were 217, 221 and 207. The locals rolled 1019-2884.

Five Players Suspended

Onteora Central Drops Basketball Schedule

Players Break Training Rules

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Onteora Central School has cancelled the remainder of its 1961-62 varsity basketball schedule and will forfeit its five remaining games, it was learned today.

The disclosure was made by Athletic Director Edward S. Witko, who cited the suspension of five varsity players for violation of training rules as the reason for cancelling the remainder of the games.

Basketball coach Al Byrne said he had suspended the five players because of training violations, most of them concerned with smoking.

The varsity coach said the boys admitted the infractions Monday before the scheduled practice session. Since there were only nine players on the varsity squad, the suspension of the five reduced the team to four players, one less than required for a regulation game.

Jayvee Schedule

The Onteora athletic officials did not consider moving Jayvee players up to complete a varsity squad. It was indicated attempts would be made to play out the Jayvee schedule if schools on the Onteora schedule would agree to such an arrangement.

The Indians have games remaining with Walkill, Marlboro and two with Pine Bush in the UCAL and a non-league encounter with Ellenville. Coach Byrne said he hopes the Jayvee club can complete its schedule, which includes contests with the five teams listed above.

Witko backed his varsity coach on the suspensions. "I hope this teaches the boys a lesson," he said. "They can't expect to play sports and violate the rules. We're only sorry that the innocent ones have to suffer also," he added.

Onteora has won only three of 13 games this season and is in last place in the Ulster County League. The discontinuance of basketball will have no bearing on the other sports at the school. Witko emphasized that the cage sport will be resumed again next season and that the other sports will be continued.

Six Straight Wins

MJM Cagers Trounce Saugerties, 54 to 37

After building a 20-point cushion in the first half, 35-15, the undefeated MJM School cagers went on to make the Saugerties High Jayvees their sixth straight victims, 54-37, Monday.

Coach Ronnie Cole's basketballers controlled the game from the outset, as Dan Heppner supplied a steady flow of power with 22 points. Brian Bach and Richie Van Dyke contributed 10 apiece.

The locals loughed off a bit in the third period when Saugerties ground out an 8-4 edge, but got back on even keel as Richie Van Dyke controlled the boards and Heppner put on a fine all-around display.

Crum led Saugerties with 15 points.

The MJM 7th Graders also remained undefeated, edging their Saugerties counterparts, 33-32. Williams led Kingston with 9 points and four other players hit for six-Lay, Tomson, Perry and Grover. Quick potted 12 for Saugerties. Other scorers were Roucei 9, Whitaker 8, Ritchie 3.

Sports Talk

Frank (Pop) Morgenweck's election to the Basketball Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass., was inevitable.

Through 32 years of professional basketball promotion, coaching and financing, Pop had richly earned the title of the "Connie Mack of Pro Basketball."

Morgenweck's greatest creation has to be Benny Borgmann, the star of his 1920 aggregation. Borgmann was one of the all-time great set shooters, a big star in an era when the small man had to make no apology for being on the court.

The pro teams of the center jump and possession play relied heavily on the set shot from the outside and the classic weave and pickoff. Before the game was refined and the zone eliminated there was heavy body contact. Only the hardest went crashing through for driving layups.

Several great set shooters stand out in our mind and Borgmann was the equal of all of them. There was Paulie Adamo of the Jersey City Reds, Cy Kaselman of the Philadelphia Spas, Phil Rabinowitz of one of the powerful Long Island Blackbirds squads and Bobby McDermott, who stayed around long enough to compete in the early stages of "modern basketball."

The Simple Strategy

Morgenweck was an astute coach, a pioneer in strategy but Borgmann made it easy for him. The basic Kingston offense was an oversimplification. "When we get in a tight spot, pass the ball to Benny," Morgenweck would tell his players in pregame huddles. Borgmann seldom failed him in his long career.

Morgie had two sets of brothers on his teams over the years and they served him well. Carl Husta and brother, Mickey, and the Powers — Charlie and Artie — were solid performers. Carl Husta was a man who never stopped running, pursuing, screening, blocking. He was a magnificent sight on a basketball court.

Borgmann and Husta were Morgenweck's two finest players. He introduced Tiny Hearn, the amiable Georgia Giant of his time. At 6 feet 7, the playful Georgian was a sight to behold. Today, of course, he would be dwarfed among the Chamberlains, Russells, Holbrooks, Dukes et al.

At Home Everywhere

The Old Maestro was a hometown wherever he set up camp. He maintained a close, friendly liaison with the press, took ticket orders, delivered them personally, had his players deliver them and made you feel that Kingston was his town, not just a stopping point for one of his numerous basketball franchises.

Pro basketball and dancing were synonymous in many towns in Morgenweck's early career. It was not unusual to have dancing on the court between halves and after the game.

An Endless Crisis

There are those who tell you that professional basketball is fighting for its life. Since the Morgenweck era it has undergone many refinements and achieved a bigness that now threatens to destroy it. But the camaraderie between fans and players is missing. Bigness destroyed the common bond.

Pro basketball then was small townish in many respects. It was poorly coordinated, publicized, being virtually anathema in many sports departments. It seemed primitive when played in the nets and deteriorated into an endless procession of fouls. Despite the many changes in rules and the loftier promotions, it has not been able to escape its tenuous existence. It is always just one step from extinction, it seems, yet remains a hardy perennial.

When you measure Morgenweck's 32 years in the game through its Neanderthal period against the promotional commotion of today's pro basketball, you appreciate the enduring qualities of the man. His niche in the Hall of Fame is well earned, his stature remains undiminished in basketball's hall of giants.

Sweeney Hikes Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Strengthening Bill Sweeney of the Eastern Division leading Springfield Indians has opened up a five-point lead in the American Hockey League's scoring race.

League figures showed today that the veteran center, who won the scoring title last season, collected seven points last week for a season's output of 78. Buffalo's Barry Cullen produced five points during the week and remained second with 73.

Sweeney, who has 27 goals and 51 assists, has scored at least one point in 32 of his last 34 games since Nov. 22. He currently has tallied a goal or an assist in 13 straight games and previously had a 17-game string broken.

Brian Kilrea of Springfield is third in the scoring with 67 points, followed by Hershey's Willie Marshall with 66. Brian Cullen of Buffalo, Barry's brother, rounds out the top five with 64.

Barry Cullen has amassed the most goals, 34. Kilrea is the top player with 52 assists.

Springfield's Marcel Paille, who has been recalled by the New York Rangers of the National League, boasts the best goals-against average among the goalies—2.67 on 96 goals in 36 games. Denis DeJordy of Buffalo is tops in shutouts with seven.

Ho, Hum Ohio State 1st Again

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the ninth straight week of the regular season, mighty Ohio State prevailed as the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team.

The unbeaten Buckeyes, winners of 18 straight games through last Saturday night, once again were a unanimous choice in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters. The Ohioans received all 43 first-place votes for 430 points.

Only in the first week of the regular season poll did the Buckeyes fail to achieve a unanimous vote. That week they drew 39 first-place choices. One selector voted for Cincinnati as the top team.

The Buckeyes defeated Michigan 72-57 Monday night and have five more regular season games left—all Big Ten contests. Their only other game this week is at Michigan State on Saturday.

Kentucky (No. 2), Cincinnati (No. 3) and Kansas State (No. 4) retained their rankings of a week ago. All were victorious last week. Kentucky, however, lost to eighth-ranked Mississippi State 49-44 Monday night, snapping its 16-game winning streak. Cincinnati downed George Washington 83-43 Monday night.

The rest of the rankings underwent a shuffling of positions but none of the top 10 teams of a week ago dropped out of the elite. The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses (points on a 10, 9, 8, etc. basis):

1. Ohio State (43)	430
2. Kentucky	375
3. Cincinnati	345
4. Kansas State	286
5. Bradley	234
6. Oregon State	165
7. Duke	148
8. Mississippi State	123
9. Duquesne	77
10. Bowling Green	53

Others receiving votes (not necessarily in order of points): West Virginia, Colorado, Chicago Loyola, UCLA, Southern California, Villanova, St. John's, Virginia Tech, Utah, Illinois, Utah State, Louisville, Arizona State, Wisconsin, Centenary, Colorado State and Arkansas.

Mississippi State Shatters Kentucky Streak at Sixteen

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Could it be that Mississippi State is making permanent inroads on Adolph Rupp's once private domain—the Southeastern Basketball Conference?

The Bulldogs certainly put a crimp in the comeback of Rupp's Kentucky squad Monday night, stopping the Wildcats 49-44—and on their own floor.

Utilizing a coolly deliberate attack and a tenacious defense, eighth-ranked Mississippi State (19-1) kept its poise and its lead through several threats, ended second-ranked Kentucky's winning streak at 16 games, and tied the Wildcats for the conference lead at 8-1.

The Bulldogs took only the good shots and took the steam out of Kentucky's fast break with their slow-down style and rugged defense. State's gangly W. D. Stroud had 17 points while sophomore Doug Hutton was chief playmaker for the Bulldogs, who cashed in on 69 per cent of their floor shots.

Kentucky Star Larry Pursifull, guarded well by Jack Berkshire and hampered by an ailing shoulder, was held to five points. Wildcat sophomore sensation Cotton Nash had 23.

Leaders Resume NBA Flag Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The late-developing race for the top spot in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division resumes tonight when the leading Boston Celtics take on Chicago and Philadelphia's runner-up Warriors meet Cincinnati. The Celtics have had their commanding edge whittled down to 5½ games by the streaking Warriors, winners of 5 in a row and 14 of their last 16.

In the lone contest Monday night, the St. Louis Hawks continued their campaign for a playoff berth in the West by knocking off pacesetter Los Angeles 117-113.

First Nike-Zeus Night Flight Halted for Safety

PT. MUGU, Calif. (AP)—The first announced night firing of a Nike-Zeus ended with technical difficulty a few seconds after launch Monday night.

The 48-foot missile killer successfully went into power flight down the Pacific missile range, but then ran into problems of an undisclosed nature. A safety computer halted the test.

An Army spokesman said certain test objectives were met, including correct reception and execution of commands transmitted to the missile from a ground guidance center. The missile is designed to intercept and destroy enemy ICBMs.

200 Negotiators Meet to Prepare Talks on Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—More than 200 negotiators of the United Steelworkers Union meet here today to smooth out their approach to the formal steel contract talks which begin Wednesday.

The union drew up its contract proposals in talks last week. It indicated it will seek improvements in job security and unemployment benefits.

The present wage scale for 430,000 steel workers ranges from $2.38 1/2 to $4.38 1/2 an hour.

Texas Teenager Makes Flight, No Lessons

RATON, N. M. (AP)—A teen-aged Texan flew solo in his father's airplane Monday from Amarillo, Tex., without permission and without benefit of flying lessons.

David House, 15, the pilot, and a companion, Craig Adcock, 16, both of Amarillo, were jailed overnight at the request of David's father, Walter House. No charges were filed.

Young House landed at Crew's Municipal Airport 12 miles south of Raton.

"I landed out on the prairie three times on the way over here just to see if I could do it," David told police.

Berkshire Area YMCA Camp Open To Kingston Boys

Youth in the Kingston area will have an opportunity to attend the Poughkeepsie YMCA resident Camp Wa Wa Segowea it was announced today by Louis H. Schafer, general secretary of the Kingston Young Men's Christian Association and Donald R. Asher, director of the Poughkeepsie YMCA resident camp for boys.

Camp Wa Wa Segowea, located in the Berkshire mountains near Canaan, Conn., is recognized as one of the finest YMCA camps in the east. It is conducted for two three-week periods and one two-week period during the summer starting June 25. Boys 8 1/2 through 16 may attend for one or more of the periods.

A special pioneering and trip camping program for older boys is conducted at the same time during the eight week season. This years trips include two canoe camping trips in the Adirondacks and a mountain hike trip in New Hampshire along the Appalachian Trail. Boys, 14 years of age or older with prior camping experience may apply for the program.

The camp contains a 23 acre lake surrounded by 550 acres of woodland and cleared sites for athletic and other field activities. Last season 245 boys attended including four from the Kingston area. "We hope others from the Kingston area will accept our invitation to attend Segowea this season," Asher said.

Boys are housed according to age and friendship groups in log cabins accommodating eight campers and a senior counselor. Other property facilities are a spacious recreation lodge, a nature lodge, modern kitchen and screened dining hall, out-door chapel, hiking trails, council ring, infirmary, and a rifle range. Horseback riding is also offered by the camp at a nearby riding ranch.

Activities include arts and crafts, sailing and canoeing, swimming and life saving instruction, hiking and overnight camping on the trail, canoe and mountain trips, archery, fishing, nature lore, baseball, basketball, volleyball, Indian lore, and many others.

Segowea is one of the oldest continuously operated YMCA camps in the east having observed its 55th anniversary last season. It is rich in tradition, noted for its natural beauty and outstanding leadership. It has an enrollment capacity of 100 campers and employs a staff of 25.

Persons interested may contact Mr. Schafer at the Kingston YMCA for further information and registration materials. It is not necessary that boys be members of the Y before enrolling.

Farm Science Programs Slated For HS Students

Professional opportunities in agriculture will be presented to more than 2,000 New York State high school students on the Cornell campus March 27-29.

Conducted by 10 departments of the New York State College of Agriculture, the three-day Agricultural Science Youth Program will be aimed toward broadening the students' understanding of agriculture and agricultural education.

Prof. Frederick K. T. Tom, program chairman, says featured topics will include analysis of a farm business problem, instruction in getting more power for less fuel from a gasoline engine, saving energy in a farm shop, aligning a farm building foundation, protecting an electric motor against burn-out, tractor maintenance, field plot demonstrations, scientific feeding, farm ponds and forests, better crops through disease-free seed, environment control for poultry, checking egg quality, weed killing, leadership development, and choosing an occupation.

Invitations have been extended to all high schools that give formal instruction in agriculture. About 300 teachers have also been invited.

Each student will be able to attend four lectures a day. Non-agricultural students may attend if they contact the agriculture teacher in their high school.

Career Conclave Planned at KHS For March 27th

The Kingston Chapter and Lodge of B'nai B'rith are working with the guidance department of Kingston High School to offer new dimensions in the field of vocational guidance.

Clifford Miller, principal, James Tobin, director of pupil personnel, and Miss Blanche Kirschenblum, counselor to the junior class have been instrumental in making the project a realization. Chairing the various B'nai B'rith committees are Mrs. Arnold Pinsky and Dr. Herbert Derman.

Tuesday, March 27, the program will be officially launched with a Career Day Conference for the junior class, totaling approximately 450 students.

The day's program will begin with the entire group assembled for a keynote address by a prominent speaker. At this time, welcoming speeches by local dignitaries and introductory statements by members of B'nai B'rith will also be delivered.

Following the general assembly, each student will attend two sets of workshops covering specific vocational areas. A survey has already been taken to determine those fields which students prefer to hear spoken about. Each student will attend sessions dealing with two of his indicated preferences.

The workshops will be an hour in duration, with time allotted for a question and answer period. A student chairman will introduce the speaker and minutes will be taken by a student recorder who will give a concluding summary statement. Each student will be given a questionnaire and self-evaluation guide to judge how beneficial the workshops have been to him.

The 30 workshops will be conducted by prominent people in the particular fields who are well-versed as to opportunities for newcomers, necessary training, monetary remuneration, and history of the vocation.

As the project is now in its planning stage, further details will be announced.

Lindsay Crosby's Wife Remains in Coma

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lindsay Crosby's wife Barbara remains in a coma at a Burbank hospital, ill from what Crosby said was a complication of pregnancy.

The former Las Vegas, Nev., showgirl, daughter-in-law of Bing Crosby, is expecting her second child in June. Dr. Abner Moss said Monday night that she was a little better but declined to state the nature of her ailment.

Mrs. Crosby, 23, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Sunday night.

County Sections Break Through Sub-Zero Wave

A very gradual warming trend amid sub-zero weather brought a few Ulster County temperatures above the zero mark early today. Kingston recorded 1 above at the City Engineers Office, and Saugerties Village reported an unofficial 4 above.

Some county areas held stubbornly at zero or sub-zero marks. Woodstock and Brown Station at Ashokan Reservoir recorded an unofficial zero; Tilton, Kerhonkson and Chichester reported -2 at Freeman check stations.

According to the Associated Press, the mercury inched up a few more icy degrees today in parts of New York State, but some spots were colder than they were Monday.

The Weather Bureau's Valentine: Wednesday will be comparatively balmy throughout the state, but wet snow or rain may develop in the western half and east of Lake Ontario. High temperatures will range from the 20s to the mid-30s, the bureau said.

Olean in the southwest, registered an overnight low temperature of 0, after basking Monday morning in a plus 17, the highest overnight low in the state.

The mercury also dropped at Saranac Lake, from -15 to -16, at Buffalo from 13 above to 3 above, and similarly in other places, while it climbed from -8 to -6 in Albany, for instance, and from 13 above to 19 above at New York City's LaGuardia Field.

Other overnight lows, mostly higher than Monday's: Watertown -8; Oneonta -6; Plattsburgh -5; Glens Falls and Poughkeepsie -4; Ulster -2; Rome -1; Newburgh 1 above; Massena and Rochester 2; Syracuse and Binghamton 5; Westhampton Beach 6.

Innocent Pleas Are Entered About Prices

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Executives of Bausch & Lomb Inc., Rochester, N.Y., and American Optical Co., Southbridge, Mass., have pleaded innocent to charges of price fixing.

Alton K. Marsters, a vice president of Bausch & Lomb, and Victor D. Kniss, executive vice president of American Optical, entered the pleas in U.S. District Court Monday.

The firms also have been charged with anti-trust violations.

3 Ex-Cons Sought For $35,000 Bank Job in Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — A nationwide alarm has been issued for three ex-convicts wanted in a $35,000 Brooklyn bank robbery during which a guard was slain with point-blank bursts of a sub-machine gun.

The FBI Monday night named the trio as Bobby R. Wilcoxson, 32, of Duke, Okla.; Albert F. Nussbaum, 27, of Buffalo, and Peter C. Curry Jr., 22, a Negro, of Quitman, Ga.

The three are charged with the robbery of the Lafayette National Bank and the shooting of bank guard Henry Kraus last Dec. 15. The FBI said the three wanted men served terms together in a federal penitentiary in the South. Curry also has done a term in Georgia for burglary.

Additionally, the FBI said, Wilcoxson was charged with the robbery of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Buffalo on Dec. 5, 1960, and of the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo on Jan. 12, 1961.

Nussbaum was charged with aiding and abetting in one of the Buffalo robberies and as a material witness to the second. Curry was charged as a material witness to one Buffalo robbery, the FBI said.

The loot from the holdups of the two Buffalo savings institutions totaled $104,000.

ADA Questions '61 Decline of Milk Consumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Dairy Association is questioning Agriculture Department reports that milk consumption declined about 2 billion pounds in 1961.

The association's weekly news letter said there seems to be ground for doubting such a decline. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has used the 3-billion-pound figure—more than 2 per cent of last year's production—in discussing what he calls a growing surplus problem in the dairy industry.

The association said statistics on consumption of various dairy products—fluid milk, whole and skim milk, cheese, ice cream, dry milk and butter—do not bear out the estimate of the consumption drop.

"The decline in fluid product sales is a most unhappy situation, but it does not seem to be as precipitous as has been indicated," the letter said. "With actual gains in total sales of frozen desserts and cheese offsetting some of the losses in butter, evaporated milk, and fluid products, we are forced to wonder if the 3-billion-pound figure isn't somewhat mythical."

Writes Church Articles

Dr. Roscoe Balch, assistant professor of history at Marist College, has been appointed a "subject matter specialist" by the Catholic Youth Encyclopedia in the area of church history. The Catholic Youth Encyclopedia is projected as a ten volume work to be published by McGraw Hill Book Company under the sponsorship of Cardinal Spellman and the editorship of the Very Rev. Msgr. John H. Harrington. The Encyclopedia is intended for the use of high school students. Dr. Balch, who joined the Marist faculty last fall, is preparing articles on "The Black Death," "The Sicilian Vespers," "Pope Joan, Urban 11, and the Council of Clermont."

6 Youths Held For Grand Jury In Burglaries

Accused of a rash of burglaries in the Newburgh area, six youths on Monday waived preliminary hearing and their cases were referred to the grand jury for further investigation.

Four defendants were arraigned before Town of Newburgh Justice of the Peace Alexander Komondy. They were identified as George Rice, 18, Newburgh; Lawrence Meeker, 17, Erich Mondorf, 17, and Franklin Vander Essen, also 17, all of Wallkill.

Arraigned in Newburgh City court were John Freeman Jr., 18, of Montgomery and Ian Vander Essen, 19, of Wallkill.

The defendants were charged with burglary third degree. The arrests climaxed a lengthy investigation conducted by Newburgh State and City police of 34 burglaries in the Newburgh area.

Goldberg Moves To Warn Unions On Missile Tieups

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor strikes increased sharply at the nation's missile bases in January —prompting government officials to move in quickly to insure that a no-strike pledge is honored.

It was learned today that Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was so disturbed that he immediately called in leaders of five unions involved to tell them they had to do a better job.

Goldberg also plans to summon contractors from the two sites where three-fourths of the January strikes occurred—sites operated by the Lincoln, Neb., and Larson (Moses Lake, Wash.) Air Force bases.

The number of missile walkouts doubled from 11 in December to 22 in January. The lost time rose from about 950 man days in December to nearly 2,500 in January.

Despite the rise, the manpower loss is still running much less than it did before last May when the no-strike pledge was given.

Before that, missile strike time losses were running over 7,000 man days a month and in one month well over 25,000.

President Kennedy established a missile site labor commission with Goldberg as chairman after hearings before a congressional committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., revealed widespread construction delays and pay practice abuses.

Goldberg assured McClellan then that if the voluntary no-strike pledge failed to work the administration would join in supporting legislation to outlaw missile strikes.
